NEW ORLEANS, May 3—For most clubs there's no place like home, but for the Atlanta Crackers there's no place like the road. Thursday night, Manager Clyde King's men rode Terry Fox's five-hitter to a 6-4 decision over New Orleans to sweep the three-game set and register their seventh straight triumph away from Poncey.

In mowing down the Pels, who had won six straight, the Crackers equalled their '55 victory output here and climbed into third place, only three lengths behind pace-setting Birmingham.

Before the home folks, the Crackers have performed at a mediocre 5-8 clip, but the four-game sweep in Nashville and three triumphs here boosted their road record to 7-2.

Sensational pitching, something to which the Crackers hadn't been accustomed, floored the Pels three nights in a row. In 34 rounds, Andy Cohen's crew netted only five runs and 20 hits.

Fox, who won 21 games at New Iberia in the Evanegline League last season, celebrated his Louisiana homecoming with his first complete game of the year.

Sammy Meeks put Fox and the Crackers ahead for keeps with a solo homer in the third, his fifth clout of the year. Meeks also blasted a double and Jack Daniels struck two blows and drove in three runs.

John Powers, who drove in all four New Orleans' runs, was the only Pel Fox couldn't handle, as he improved his record to 2-3. Powers singled in a run in the third, homered with none on in the eighth and drilled a two-run single in the ninth.

The Crackers accomplished their latest success with infielder Bobby Willis playing in the outfield and outfielder Bob Montag playing first base.

King was forced to make the shuffle when first baseman Bill Gabler and outfielder Jim Frey turned up virus victims. Gabler didn't dress out, and Frey, who won Wednesday's game with a 15-inning single, had to retire in the third.

Right-hander Don Urquhart, a three-time winner, carried his second defeat to the shower in the three-run Cracker fifth. Jim Rice opened the gate for the unearned markers by booting Bob Boring's bouncer with two down.

The Crackers had Urquhart on the ropes when they loaded the bases in the first, but failed to score. Meeks then boomed his 340-foot homer over the left-field fence with one out in the third. Frank DiPrima followed with a walk and, an out later, Bob Montag drew the second of five straight walks. Boring rapped a run-producing single into right for a 2-0 lead.

The Pels pecked Fox for a run in the home half when Urquhart and Dick Barone walked, Fox overthrew second for an error and Powers singled. The Pels didn't glean another hit until Powers smacked his sixth homer in the eighth.
