

Knox Hurls Perfect Tilt

Sophomore Bob Knox pitched the first perfect game in University of Texas at El Paso history Friday, a 1-0 decision over New Mexico Highlands that gave the Miners a split in a college baseball doubleheader at Dudley Field.

It was only the third start of the season for the Chicago native, by his second complete game shutout. Against the Cowboys, he struck out six and had three balls on only two batters, both late in the seven inning game.

"He pitched a fine game," Miner coach Andy Cohen said after the game. "He mixed his speeds well, and kept them off balance. And he got good support from the team."

It was a fine pitching day all around. Highlands had taken the opener 2-1 in eight innings before Knox started throwing aces. All four runs scored on the day were unearned.

Leftfielder Joe Pennies assured the perfect win in the nightcap when he singled in Herb Von Hagen for the deciding run with two out in the seventh. Von Hagen had walked and went to second on an abortive pick-off attempt.

Joel Kuenstler picked up the Miners' only other hit off Leman Taylor in the second, an opposite field bloop single. Taylor walked four and struck out a like number during his performance.

Six Miner errors sealed their fate in the opener, giving Highlands their first unearned run in the sixth.

Larry McKay tied it up in the bottom of the inning, scoring from first on an outfield error.

Bob Downing took the loss in relief of Mike Hilton. Downing is now 1-1.
