

Juarez Plans To Field '73 AAA Baseball Club

By RAMON VILLALOBOS

For the first time in the history of organized baseball on the border, Juarez in 1973 will field a Class AAA baseball team which will play with 16 other clubs comprising the strong Mexican League.

This was announced at a press conference Thursday in the offices of Ing. Antonio Enriquez, general manager of the Cruz Blanca Brewery in Juarez, owners of the club.

Enriquez, who also will be club president, disclosed that construction on an eight-million peso ($640,000) baseball park is already under way. Work started Monday by Monterrey contractor, Ing. Jorge Torres.

The park, which is being built to organized baseball specifications, when completed will have an 8,000 seat capacity, with parking facilities to handle more than 2,000 cars. The park is being built on a 10-acre plot west of the brewery on Reforma Street.

The concrete structure will be equipped with modern adjustable cushion seats in the grandstand in rows of four to permit vendors to circulate more freely, Enriquez said.

The park also will have an oval bar under the grandstand and a modern restaurant. Completion date is Dec. 31, 1972, and the park will be ready for play in March when the Mexican League officially begins.

Park dimensions will be 330 feet from home plate to left field, 400 feet to center field, and 360 feet to right field.

Enriquez also announced that Emundo Marquez, formerly of Chihuahua City, and widely known in Mexican baseball circles, has been appointed general manager of the club and in charge of player selection.

Although the position of team manager has not been fully discussed, the name of El Paso's Andy Cohen, who formerly managed clubs in the ill-fated Mexican
