National League, is rumored as a candidate.

Juarez' application to join the Mexican League was approved by league directors last year. Joining Juarez in the league will be Chihuahua City.

Juarez and Chihuahua City will be members of the eight-team northern division of the league, which will include Torreon, Saltillo, Monterrey, Sabinas, Tampico, and Reynosa, Tamaulipas.

The Southern division will include the Tigers and Devils from the Federal District, (Mexico City), Puebla, Poza Rica, Yucatan, Veracruz, Jalisco and Cordova.

The tentative schedules call for Juarez to play 75 home games and 75 on the road.

Arrangements will be made with baseball officials in El Paso, in the event El Paso remains in the Texas League, to schedule the two clubs so at no time will they be playing at home at the same time.

The Juarez "AAA" team and park construction, according to Enriquez, represents a 25-million peso (about $2 million) investment by the Cruz Blanca Brewery.
