

ASU Rips U.T. El Paso

University of Texas at El Paso baseball squad continued its losing ways by falling to Arizona State University 10-4 Friday at Dudley Field.

The Miners are now 0-4 in the Southern Division of the Western Athletic Conference and 10-25 overall.

ASU, ranked as the No. 2 college baseball team; in the nation by Collegiate Baseball magazine, sports a fine 39-3 season mark and a 4-0 WAC slate.

The two ball clubs square off Saturday for a twin-bill scheduled to begin at 10 a.m. at Dudley Field.

U.T. El Paso, under Coach Andy Cohen, have lost six straight games and 10 of their last 12 tilts. The Miners have not beaten an NCAA university division baseball team since early March when they beat Texas Tech only twice in eight games with the Red Raiders.

Tim Peden, the Miners' sturdy catcher, paced the losing effort with a two for three plate performance, driving in two runs.

"Bump" Wills, son of Los Angeles Dodger star Maury Wills, came up with a 0 for 5 day at the plate.
