

Miners Split Ag Bill

University of Texas at El Paso baseball squad broke out of an 11-game dry spell with an 8-3 win over New Mexico State in the first game of a doubleheader Tuesday at Dudley Field, but lost the nightcap as the Aggies won 16-3.

NMSU stands at 28-16 for the season while U.T. El Paso is now 11-31 and 0-9 in Western Athletic Conference play.

Joel Kuenstler, from Odessa, shelled a three-run homer in the lid-lifter to put the Miners ahead to stay. Jan Hood, a converted football player, picked up the win in relief and sports a 2-1 mound mark.

NMSU bombed Miner pitching for 16 base hits in the nightcap as the Aggies tallied 14 runs in the big sixth inning.

Barry Alburtis, one of the leading hitters in the WAC, blasted a solo homer in the second for the Miners.

Weldon Langley, a Eunice, N.M. native, notched the pitching win for the Aggies.

Coach Andy Cohen will take his Miners on the road for a three game set Friday and Saturday in Tucson against the University of Arizona.
