

Beautify El Paso Starts Small Park In Five Points

Beautify El Paso Association is planning to make a small triangular park out of property located at the intersection of Elm and Piedras Streets in Five Points. Plants and cacti indigenous to this semi-arid climate will be used in landscaping.

Ted Harris, horticulturist, designed the planting plan which includes century plants, yuccas, desert willows, ocotillos, sotols, birds of paradise, red yuccas, and palo verde trees.

Mrs. George Kistenmacher and Mrs. Charles Christensen are co-chairmen of the project, Mr. Harris, Mrs. Joe Carter, and Mrs. Malcolm Welch, advisor, are serving on the park beautification committee.

Andy Cohen, president of the Association, said, "This property is an ideal place for a park, and its beautification will add to the attractiveness of this intersection."

For many years the property was the site of a service station which was torn down in 1970. It was leased in January of this year by the Beautify El Paso Association from Martin Bauman, Jr. The project will be known as the "Five Points Beautification Park."

Future plans include restoration of the sidewalk and curb surrounding the property.
