Miner Nine, Albuquerque Clash Friday

University of Texas at El Paso baseball season swings into its second weekend Friday at Dudley Field when the Miners meet University of Albuquerque in the first of a pair of doubleheaders.

First games of the twin bills, both Friday and Saturday, are set for 1 p.m. with second games to follow immediately after.

Coach Andy Cohen has named junior lefty Lynn Hunt and freshman righthander Jesse Lujan as starters for the Friday doubleheader although he has not decided which hurler will start the first game.

Cohen's lineup is becoming more settled after some experimenting in the season-opening series with University of New Mexico last weekend. Larry McFarlin, the Miners' leading hitter the last two seasons will move back to his old position in centerfield and John Miller, a freshman will take over at first base where he played in the last two games against UNM.

Charlie West will be behind the plate for UTEP and Grady Caveness will start in left field. Juan Sandoval, a freshman from Jefferson High, will be at second base.

Danny Blanco, one of the top Miner hitters and in his second year as starting third baseman, is a question mark for the Albuquerque series. The sophomore infielder has been ill all week and Cohen is uncertain how much he will be able to play. Ron Rush, a freshman from Midland Lee will fill in at third if Blanco is not able to play.

The Miners take a 1-1-1 record into the four-game series. UTEP played UNM to a 9-9 tie in a game that was called because of darkness after nine innings last week and then split a doubleheader with the Lobos.
