

Barneburg Wins Top Lion Award

Friday was annual awards day for Downtown Lions, ahead of next week's installation banquet marking the changeover in administration.

Past President H. B. (Barney) Barneburg was named Top Lion of the year, under the point system used to grade service to the club and in public service projects. At 190 points, he was 20 ahead of the second place Lion, Charles F. Tupper, one of those receiving bronze lions. Others were Emmet A. Jones, James C. Walsh Jr., Fred J. Herschleder, C. Eugene Hargrave, Bill Burton and George U. Stauning.

New medallions, for their accrued points, went to William A. Walsh, C. C. Krigbaum, Thomas W. Vaughn, John E. Joyce, Alan Thompson, G. W. (Bill) Brown and Don C. Gardner. Certificates were awarded to William D. Boyd, C. W. (Ben) Lyons, Albert A. Mestan, Cyrus H. Lambert, Vernon O. Darby, Harvey D. McCune, Richard L. Newland, Andrew H. Cohen and William E. Flick.

Under recently adopted Lions regulations, no present officer or member of the board is eligible for the service awards. Special citations were given Friday to John Phelan, Lion of the Month for May, for his work on the recent bowling tournament and his weekly news presentation; to Clay Fiske and Paul Berry for their work on the Lions' Sun Carnival Parade float; to Pat Rand, chairman of the Minstrel Show Committee, and to George Broderson, who served as vice president of the last Sun Carnival.

The Potentate Quartet, from Moslah Temple of Fort Worth and including only men who have served the temple as potentate, provided one of the best musical programs presented before the club, in a demonstration of why barber shop quartet music continues to thrive in America.

"Paper" items now on the market include dresses, jewelry, hats, a portable paper bar, paper chairs, pocketbooks, lampshades and football jerseys.
