

Here's How

TIS THE SEASON TO BE jolly and who are happier this Christmas season than the Miner athletic fans . . . Their Miners won the Sun Bowl basketball tournament and looked the champions of old in taking the final victory over a strong San Francisco Don outfit. . .

And their Flyin' Miners are getting ready to play Ole Miss' Rebels the game of their life next Saturday in the Sun Bowl Game. . .

So first off a Merry Christmas to all.

ONE OF THE LIGHTER and more joyous aspects of the Christmas season is the Christmas cards. No matter how the growling arises as to the commercial elements of the practice, it still lightens and gladdens the heart as the merry, cheery and sometimes clever little reminders of the season arrive.

That's why there is a bit of gladness at cards this year from Lee and Bob Reynolds (he's one of the owners of the California Angels); Lou and Mary Henson, coach of the N.M. Aggies; The Dallas Cowboys including Don Meredith; John Stanfill, Mary Saucedo and Fred Herschleder of the Sun King office; Ina and Gene Autry (he's also an Angel); Bob and Doris Coleman (he helps put our page together);

Also from Hugh Finerty and the Texas Baseball League; Andy Cohen, the dandy little coach of the Sun Kings and coach of the Miner baseballers; Marvin Milkes, the vice president of the Angels being rumored for the top job with the new Seattle franchise; Bobby and Eddie Mullens (he's the guy who strings out all those similes for the U.T. El Paso sports information office); Jon Carlos Salazar, sports editor of the Albuquerque Tribune;
