'Cult Of Change' Hit By Educator

By MARJORIE GRAHAM
Nothing has been innovated out of the old moral principles, Frank O. McIntyre told the 43rd delegates to the Trans-Pecos Teachers Convention Friday in Memorial Gymnasium on the campus of the University of Texas at El Paso.

McIntyre, who is a "cult of change" in a period of innovation and transition, the California educator said that he is concerned "with the quickness with which we abandon traditions and established values."

"It is difficult to adjust to change. There is a virtuous lawlessness, no matter who does it," he said, referring to teacher strikes throughout the country and the loss of professionalism that attends them. A witty, dynamic speaker with the fast punch line, McIntyre observed that, in semantic confusion, a penitentiary is no longer a "jail" or a "jug" but a "correctional facility" for the morally disadvantaged.

An executive for information services in the California Teachers Association, which represents 180,000 teachers, McIntyre said that many young people are bewildered and disoriented today, that they are grasping for meaning at a time when it is estimated a person will be retrained three times after he graduates from college and when the world's population is expected to double itself in 50 years.

"This is a period, he quipped, when because of television, children are forced to interrupt their education to go to school."

McIntyre reported that Californians, by an overwhelming margin recorded in a respected poll, believe that they are the most important element of government, overshadowing fire and police protection, even national

I think that you in Texas believe that too," he said, adding to El Paso host.

200 Hurt In Rome Rioting

ROME — More than 200 police and students were injured in Rome Friday in the latest violent outbreak of nationwide agitation for university reform.

More than 235 were arrested as 2,000 students clashed with police at the university's architecture department building on the north edge of the Borghese Gardens, nearly two miles from the main campus.

Their first attempt to occupy the building, guarded by 200 policemen, was briefly successful.

However, with the arrival of several hundred more club-wielding policemen, students were driven into the street where some of them overturned a small police car and set it and three other police vehicles on fire. The smoke from the burning vehicles could be seen from the center of the city. Four other vehicles were damaged.

The injured — including 150 policemen — were being treated and taken to nearby hospitals. After treatment, students and minor injuries were taken to police headquarters where they were booked and held for questioning.

Students held another demonstration in front of the Chamber of Deputies building in the center of Rome where they were joined by the invalids with wartime and industrial injuries who were demonstrating for larger compensation.

The two demonstrations brought city-center traffic to a complete standstill for more than three hours. At one point, at least 100 buses were stalled end-to-end along the Via Dei Corso, Rome's Fifth Avenue, and on several side streets.

Students also demonstrated Friday and Thursday brought parliamentary demands from the left for the resignation of the center government, Prof. Pietro Devedic, and the minister of education, Luigi Gui.

LiJ Calls Copper Leaders To Meet

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson announced Friday he is summoning all parties in the 28-day copper strike to an emergency White House conference Monday. The conference is to aim at achieving sound-the-bargaining.

"In my judgment," Johnson said in a statement released during a presidential visit here, "the national interest requires further and immediate governmental effort to resolve the copper strike."

Johnson said he has asked representatives of all the struck copper producers and all the striking unions to meet with him at the White House at 4 p.m. EST Monday.

I shall request the parties to resume collective bargaining negotiations on an around-the-clock basis with the assistance of the secretaries of defense, labor and commerce," the statement said.

Johnson said the strike accept this proposal the White House effect would once again sponsor bargaining talks as it has in the past in a nationwide rail labor dispute and in steel and airline strikes.

"The national interest," Johnson said, "requires that the parties, with the assistance I am providing, agree to contract terms which will end the strike. I am confident that in light of the urgency of the situation, all concerned will respond to my request in the spirit of our nation."

Johnson said he is willing to leave his neighbor alone as we are going to be their defender that neighbor."

Johnson said he wanted his audience to know "your leaders are just as concerned about the tribulations and frustrations of today as you are."

Johnson jettied into the gleaming Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston, then went to an old folks home and the Brooks testimonial dinner in a campaign-style visit to his home state.

He will fly to Marquette, Ga., Saturday to be on hand when Lockheed Aircraft Corp. rolls out the first of its new, monster jet cargo planes.

After talking to assembled space scientists and workers at Houston, the President went to a treatment, old folks home to tell them that Social Security gains began under the New Deal were continuing under his administration.

Johnson reminded the senior citizens at the Schlesinger Old Folks Home that more dollars will begin reaching them Saturday as a result of the new Social Security law.

Johnson Skips About Country

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP)—President Johnson skipped out of the White House for the third straight weekend Friday, made a morale-boosting trip to America's space nerve center, then told a group of fellow Texans that America will continue to fight aggression in Vietnam.

Speaking to a testimonial dinner for fellow Democrat and Texas Rep. Jack C. Carr, Johnson said America will find peace in Southeast Asia if there is a way to do so, but warned, "We're not going to support those boys out there."

The South Vietnamese, he declared, "fired their own government." "Ho Chi Minh who has never been elected to any office has determined that might will make right."

Johnson said he is willing to leave his neighbor alone as we are going to be their defender that neighbor."

Move 'Hot' Snow To Cool Planes

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and Denmark have decided to swap up one contaminated by the shattering of four B-52s carried hydrogen bombs off Greenland and return it to this country.

The Defense Department declined the plan Friday in response to questions from The Associated Press.

The radioactive snow lies over a flame-blacked area of forest bay off the Greenland coast where the B-52s were shot down by Soviet anti-aircraft fire on Jan. 22.

This material will be stored at Utah Air Base, Greenland, in sealed metal containers for subsequent shipment to the United States during the summer shipping season for final disposal," the Pentagon says.

Snow cannot get to Thule until the bay thaws in summer.

Since the depth of the snow varies, actual coverage cannot be determined at this time, the Pentagon said, adding that perhaps none of the seven-foot thick ice will have to be removed. "Except in the worst case, the contamination is in the snow on top of the ice."

Critics maintain that only low-level, relatively harmless Alpha radiation was released when the B-52s were shot down, but the Pentagon insists the fallout is the fiery crash.

EP May Lose 1st Sentinel Round, White

By ART LEIBRON
El Paso may well lose the first round of the Sentinel fight, but it would not surprise me if the committee, in its first decision, disapproved the installation for El Paso.

"It ought to occur, I will continue to work hard for an eventual installation of this facility in El Paso."

U.S. Rep. O. C. Fisher, Texas congressman on the Armed Services Committee, will make a strong pitch for El Paso's position on the Sentinel missile program, White said, "but it would not surprise me if the committee, in its first decision, disapproved the installation for El Paso."

Three factors have worked against the installation of the Sentinel project here, White said, typed by the poor presentation of the Army in the recent congressional hearing.

The direct presentation was good, he said, "but unfortunately, during the Presumably the United States agreed nonetheless to remove any hint of hazard to ease fears of the Danes, who own Greenland.

Air Force Maj. Gen. Richard O. Hunziker, in charge of the recovery operation code-named Project Crowsed, led terms the removal "a matter of good housekeeping."

In 1964 another B-52 incident spilled hydrogen bombs over Palomares, Spain. The United States loaded away 17,000 tons of soil which was exposed to radioactive contamination.

Barrels of the contaminated earth were buried at the atomic wastes dumping ground near Alamogordo, N.C. The barrels

DMZ Fighting Erupts

SAIGON (AP)—Heavy fighting developed at opposite ends of the demilitarized zone Friday, with U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese units battling Communist troops near the border with Laos and Vietnam's capital.

U.S. Marines told 22 dead and 47 wounded in a battle in a village between the Cuai Viet River and the DMZ, four miles northeast of Dong Ha near the coast. It was some of the heaviest fighting in the sector, a Communist stronghold, in several weeks.

The Marines reported killing 36 of the enemy.

Sweeping south of the river while the Marines were sweeping north, government forces were fighting Communist troops near the border with Laos and Vietnam's capital.
