

Miners Face Red Raiders In Baseball

University of Texas at El Paso is scheduled to host Texas Tech of the Southwest Conference in the opener of a two-game baseball series at 2 p.m. Friday at Dudley Field.

Second game is set for 2 p.m. Saturday, also at Dudley Field.

Both teams have two wins this season. Tech has a 2-2 record while the Miner mark is 2-6 after dropping a three-game series at Tucson to University of Arizona earlier in the week.

Sophomore righthander Jesse Lujan is scheduled to start on the mound for the Miners in Friday's game. He has a 1-1 mark to date with a 3.75 earned run average.

First baseman John Miller will miss both games with a pulled muscle received in the Arizona series. Taking over at first for Miller will be freshman Kevin Berger.

Remainder of the Miner starting lineup is expected to be much the same as it has been all season with Ron Hix behind the plate, Juan Sandoval at second, Danny Blanco at third and Bobby Aguirre at short.

In the outfield it will be Mike Ward in left, Charlie West in center and Sam McLellan in right.

Aguirre is the top hitter in a Miner batting attack that has lacked some of the punch it showed last season. West and Hix each have one home run.

Coach Andy Cohen said basketball players Mike Switzer and Howard McDonald joined the team after the Miners' return from Tucson.

"Both look promising and could add some strength to the team," Cohen said.

Switzer is an outfielder and the 6-foot-8 MacDonald is a righthanded pitcher.

Lefthander Lynn Hunt is expected to get the nod as starting pitcher in Saturday's game. He has a 1-2 mark and a 2.57 earned run average.
