Cohen Likes Miner Hurling

Andy Cohen, coach of the University of Texas at El Paso Miners baseball team, is happy with his pitching.

"We did fairly well over the weekend opener and it looks like I have five starters," Coach Cohen said. "Our hitting needs work. We outhit the University of New Mexico but could not come up with hits when we had men on bases."

THE MINERS out hit the Lobos 8-5 during Saturday's game but left 10 runners stranded on the bases. "It was inexperience but we have hopes that they will come around. It was the opener series and the first time we had played together in a game. The club is going to improve as the season goes along and we will be heard from," Coach Cohen said.

Freshman hurler Bill Diesselhorst gave up five runs on five hits for the loss while Ron Sims, Lobos sophomore, went seven innings on the mound for a 5-0 shutout.

SENIOR SHORTSTOP Bobby Aguirre paced the U.T.-El Paso hitting with three of four including a double — all line drive blasts — while Charley West drove out a double to pace the batting.

The Miners, with a three game series with the University of Albuquerque at Dudley Field start over Friday.

"WE WILL HAVE plenty of rest this week for our pitchers and will start Lynn Hunt and Jesse Lujan against Albuquerque" Cohen said. "Then Bill Onick and Terry Witt will work, in addition to Diesselhorst. I am real happy with the pitching."

One of the strong points against New Mexico was Ron Hix, the transfer catcher from Odessa Junior College. "He looks like a clutch hitter and calls a nice game, working well with the pitchers."

Another standout, according to Cohen, was Ernie Carreon who struck out two and made the third batter pop up during an inning stint of relief.
