It's a Tied Game

HERE'S BOBBY TREVINO, at left, coming home after hitting a three-run homer in the bottom of the ninth to tie the score at 9-9 against the Arkansas Travelers last night at Dudley Field. He's being greeted near home plate by Dennis Paepke, Sun Kings' catcher. The Kings won 11-9 on Jim DeNeff's homer in the bottom of the 10th. (Herald-Post Photo by Bill Thompson.)

Where Will Be the Next Bat-Burning?

WEEKENDING IN SPORTS: The pyromaniac Pirates may have started something by a mass burning of their bats to cleanse themselves of a hitting slump. If many teams try this, there'll be a lot of good and expensive lumber go up in flames. Lee Trevino calls his golf gallery friends "Lee's Fleas." Week's astute salute to Frank (Smiley) Johnson, El Paso youth who hit the first major league homer of his career this week, for the San Francisco Giants against the Houston Astros. He played third base. Johnson was signed by the Giants in 1961 after finishing at Bel Air. He's spent most of the time since then on Giants farm teams in the Pacific Coast League. Forward Pass, now the official winner of the Kentucky Derby, was not clinically tested to see if he had been given a pain-killing drug. Dancer's Image finished first in the race and was disqualified when the laboratory tests revealed he had been "drugged." Wouldn't it be better if all the Derby horses were tested? Week's quote of note by Eddie Mullens, U.T. El Paso sports information director: "The kicking game (of the Miners) may be as safe as a meat loaf in a vegetarian's ice box with Tom (Twiggy) Galloway and Jeff around to handle the chores." And he might add with White and Jerry Waddles to do the field goal kicking. Football is referred often to as a game of inches. For the Miners next fall it might be partly a game of "feet." And speaking of feet, did you hear about the man who thought boot camp was a training ground for shoe salesmen?

Wrestling Makes Comeback Here

SAUL PAREDES, throwing a luncheon for the news media to celebrate the International City Wrestling Association's first year of operation, said the 51 matches promoted by his organization drew an average crowd of around 1700. The average was about 2500 before the copper strike here idled so many men. The IOWA has succeeded where several other El Paso wrestling promotional groups have failed and Saul may become a better promoter than another Saul here—Saul Kleinfeld. Vince Lombardi, general manager of the Green Bay Packers, was talking to a group of fellow National League executives. Discussing Fred Carr, UTEP's great linebacker, he said, "I'm gonna play him at tight end?" "That so?" asked Art Modell of the Cleveland Browns. "Where's Phil Bengtson (new Packers head coach) going to play him?" Vince, remembering he no longer was the coach of the Packers, laughed as heartily as the others. One of the big league managers who spends a lot of time making out lineups before a game is Bill Rigney of the California Angels. He writes one down, discards it and puts down another one. He's never satisfied. "Maybe he wants one that'll rhyme," said Charles Maher of the Los Angeles Times. A rhyming lineup would be something. Harry Wendelstadt, a former Texas League umpire, was among four National League umpires who were scheduled to fly to Houston on a plane that recently crashed in Texas and left no survivors. They switched to an earlier flight.

Fans Short Changed Jim DeNeff

FANS AT DUDLEY FIELD last night gave Bobby Trevino a $22 shower for hitting his three-run homer that tied the Sun Kings with Arkansas 9-9. Jim DeNeff came up in the 10th and hit the homer that won the game 11-9. He received $1. When Trevino hit his the fans were in their seats. The customers were going for the exits almost before DeNeff's ball went out. As I've said many times, those games are great to win and very ulcerous and gray-hairish to lose. Verne Rapp of the Travelers must have felt badly but he took the loss philosophically: "It's just one game." Which is true and a 140-game schedule gives teams the opportunities to win some soul-stirring battles to make up for the heartbreaking losses. Chuck Tanner says the Shreveport fans cheered DeNeff when he homered in the ninth inning Thursday night. They cheered DeNeff for the power he showed and not for the fact that the homer put the Braves two behind. Department of nonsense: The baseball controversy in which Arizona charged that at Albuquerque when the Wildcats played New Mexico only new and unrubbed balls were thrown to the Cat pitcher after the Lobos fouled balls out of play. So, at Tucson, Arizona retaliated and did the same thing to New Mexico. Signs of progress: The Big 10 will use three officials in its basketball games next season. And the Big Ten says its schools are hard-pressed to meet their athletic budgets.

THE PIRATES SONG

We don't want to set the world on fire;
We just want to start a flame
On bats that produce only zeros
For the fans we want to remain heroes.

They Get Wyatt From Red Sox

NY Yanks Help Their Bullpen

United Press International

BOSTON, May 18. — The New York Yankees have the bullpen specialist they've been seeking after purchasing veteran reliever John Wyatt from the Boston Red Sox for an undisclosed sum.

Yankee manager Ralph Houk was delighted with his latest acquisition but not nearly as happy as Wyatt was to escape from Boston manager Dick Williams.

The veteran pitcher and the 1967 American League manager of the year disagreed during the off-season and Wyatt has been a prime resident of Williams' doghouse ever since.

WILLIAMS, in an off-season interview, had indicated that Wyatt had not done well in the clutch during Boston's pennant drive.

Wyatt quickly replied in a letter to a Boston writer giving his side of the story and asking that the letter be published.

"I was dead here," Wyatt said after learning he would don a Yankee uniform today. "I could see it even in spring training. I think it goes a lot deeper than my pitching, a lot deeper," Wyatt said in reference to the off-season conflict.

WINS IT — Jim DeNeff, scoring Tom Silverio ahead of him, homered the Sun Kings to a 11-9 victory over the Arkansas Travelers last night at Dudley Field. He hit a towering homer over the left field fence in the bottom of the 10th with none out. It was his sixth homer of the season.

Wyatt had a 1-2 record and a 4.23 earned run average in eight appearances this season and a career mark of 41 wins and 41 losses.

Kings Keep Going; May Day Tonight

It was quite a start, an "in between" and a finish to the opening game of the Sun Kings' series with the Arkansas Travelers.

Mike Christino, Arkansas first baseman, unloaded a grandslam homer in the first inning that stunned the Sun Kings. But his and second baseman John Sipin's two-run homer in the fifth were over-shadowed by ninth and 10th inning balls driven out of the park by Bobby Trevino and Jim Deneff.

IN BETWEEN the first and end-of-the-game homers were just about everything that could happen in baseball, including seven Arkansas errors, interference plays and a decision that led to playing the game under protest by the Sun Kings.

The Sun Kings won the game 11-9 to gain their fifth straight win and pick up a full game on the Western Division leaders, the Albuquerque Dodgers who lost to Memphis.

The second game of the series is set tonight with Rudy May going for the Sun Kings. He's 0-3. He will be opposed by the ace of the Arkansas staff, Clay Kirby, a right hander who is 5-0.

FRED NEWMAN, the ex-big league hurler who pitched so well here last season until he was called up by Seattle, will join the Kings tonight and make up for a deficiency in numbers. The Kings staff is down to seven because of military commitments.

Coming from a 9-2 deficit, the Kings made one of the biggest comebacks in the annals of El Paso baseball last night.

"Did you think you were going to win it?" Chuck Tanner was asked.

"Ask Andy," Chuck said. Andy Cohen, the Kings assistant coach, said Chuck declared in the fifth inning after the Travs had scored their nine runs: "If we can keep 'em from scoring any more runs we'll win this one."

JOE OVERTON was rocked by Christino's grandslammer although the young right hander didn't look too bad. And Jim Holbrook was rocked by Sipin's homer in the fifth. But from then on, the Kings got great relieving by kunckler Ed Sennett and the club's every night relief man, Bill Boehlert.

The Kings meantime off Joe DiFabio and his successor, Joe Hamende, were getting a number of hits and Arkansas was cooperating with errors. But the Kings couldn't make many of their hits count. They left 12 on for the night.

THINGS changed in the ninth. Two walks by Hamende put the Kings in good scoring position again. Jarvis Tatum, playing his first Dudley Field game of the year, singled in one run. Then with Wayne Bethea and Tatum on the sacks, Trevino, the club's best hitter, came through with a smash over the left field wall.

The game went into the bottom of the 10th tied 9-9 and this time DeNeff hit a towering fly that cleared the high boards in left. Tom Silverio, who had got on an error scored ahead of DeNeff.

Both DeNeff and Trevino hit high fast balls.

The Sun Kings mobbed DeNeff at home plate for his hit producing homer. It was a joyous occasion for the Kings and their fans, some of whom had despaired of winning and had gone home.

Leaves Buffalo Big League Project

DeWitt Is Leaving

United Press International

CINCINNATI, May 18. — William O. DeWitt, former owner of the Cincinnati Reds, announced today he has withdrawn from a syndicate seeking to land a National League expansion franchise for Buffalo, N.Y.

DeWitt said he has notified Buffalo attorney Bob Swados, head of the group, of his decision.

The former major league executive said he had been invited by the Buffalo group several months ago to invest in the venture and to serve in an advisory capacity in connection with the franchise application and the construction of a proposed new stadium.

"Buffalo has made a very fine presentation to the National League and the granting of a franchise to Buffalo is looked upon with great favor by many of the owners," DeWitt said. "I extend best wishes to the Buffalo Group for a successful conclusion in their efforts to secure a franchise."

Conference Talks of Bowl Dividing—

E.P. Gets WAC Meet; CSU Plays for Title

United Press International

LARAMIE, Wyo., May 18. — Officials of the Western Athletic Conference recommended that all conference teams should share in receipts from football bowl games.

In a recommendation to the president's council, officials said the WAC should make up a bowl game financial policy. Last December Wyoming went to the Sugar Bowl and kept all the receipts it received from the game, but WAC officials said they thought these "receipts should be distributed conference-wide."

IN FINAL sessions at the end of the three days of discussion, the WAC council ruled that a minimum of five conference games were needed in the 1968 football season to qualify for the WAC championship.

But the officials ruled that since Colorado State University — a new member this year — has only three conference games, with Wyoming, New Mexico and the University of Texas at El Paso, it would count CSU games with Texas Tech and the Air Force Academy as "conference games."

They also voted to raise the maximum allowable number of freshman basketball games from 14 to 18 and planned to hold the WAC winter council meeting Dec. 2-4 at El Paso.

WAC officials also approved the following championship events: cross country Nov. 9 at Arizona State; swimming March 6-8 at Colorado State U., wrestling March 14-15 at New Mexico; golf, track and tennis March 23-24 at Arizona State.

IN CASE OF a tie in basbeall, they ruled to hold a one-game playoff, which would go into effect with the 1969 baseball season. Because of the weather, they cancelled the Utah-Wyoming series this year, noting that Brigham Young has the northern division sewed up.

Also approved was a committee to review junior college rules in the anticipation of possible changes.

Walked Twice on Purpose, He Wins Game

White Needle Sharper

By VITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer

Bob Gibson and Bill White acted like a couple of roommates last night. They traded insults.

But it was White who got the last laugh with the game-winning hit as the Philadelphia Phillies edged the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals 1-0 in 10 innings.

Gibson and White roomed together when they were teammates at St. Louis and Gibson needled his old teammate in the eighth inning when he intentionally walked John Callison to bring White up — and then retired him.

IT WORKED SO well the first time that Gibson again walked Callison intentionally in the 10th to bring White up. Callison had gotten two hits in three trips before Gibson walked him twice while White was hitless in his first four at bats.

"It was embarrassing. I was like getting knocked down twice — and then you have to get up and keep on fighting," White said.

White, though, finally got the best of his old roomie as he stroked a single to score Woody Fryman from second base and end the game.

ELSEWHERE in the National League, Atlanta topped New York 3-1 in 16 innings, San Francisco blanked Chicago 2-0, Los Angeles whitewashed Houston 6-0 and Cincinnati nipped Pittsburgh 3-2.

Atlanta erupted for two runs with two out in the 16th to finally end a pitcher's duel. The Mets got four hits, and only in the last 10 innings. Pat Jarvis started and Jim Britton came on in the 12th and got the victory.

BILL SINGER pitched a two-hitter and drove in two runs with a single and a double as the Dodgers blanked the Astros. Singer also took over the National League lead in strikeouts by fanning eight to boost his season total to 65.

Ray Sadecki, working his way out of two bases loaded jams, pitched a three-hitter as the Giants stopped the Cubs. The Cubs loaded the bases in the first and the seventh but Sadecki struck out Lou Johnson and got pinch-hitter John Boccabella on a fly out to end those two rallies and boost his record to 5-3.

A THIRD INNING homer by Lee May carried the Reds past Pittsburgh. The solo homer, May's fourth of the season, gave the Reds a 3-0 lead and proved to be the deciding run when the Pirates knocked out Cincinnati starter Jim Maloney with a two-run outburst in the sixth. Bob Lee stopped the rally and Ted Davidson pitched the seventh for the Reds.

Howard Hits 8th HR in 5 Games, But Overshadowed

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

Frank Howard topped the Babe and still was upstaged.

Howard, the mammoth muscleman of the Washington Senators, surpassed an accomplishment of the legendary Babe Ruth last night by powering his eighth home run in five successive games.

He did it, moreover, under dramatic circumstances — one on and one out in the ninth and his team trailing by a single run.

Jim Northrup, however, followed Howard's act with a show-stopper of his own and brought down the house in Tiger Stadium with a grand-slam homer in the bottom of the inning to give league-leading Detroit Tigers a 7-3 victory.

IT WAS THE fourth grand slammer of Northrup's career and his second in two years on May 17. He hit one on the same date a year ago, also against the Senators.

In other games, the Baltimore Orioles whipped the Cleveland Indians 6-2, the Boston Red Sox clipped the New York Yankees 6-4 for their sixth straight victory and the Chicago White Sox edged the Oakland Athletics 1-0 in 10 innings. The California-Minnesota game was postponed by rain after 3½ scoreless, hitless innings.

HOWARD'S HOME RUN, a mere chip shot of 355 feet, was his 15th of the season, tops among major leaguers. He also leads both leagues with 30 runs batted in and his .336 batting average is tops in the A.L.

Northrup drive his dramatic blow off reliever Steve Jones after Detroit had tied the score on a single by Norm Cash, a sacrifice, an error by Jones and Jim Price's pinch single and loaded the bases on a walk to Dick MaAuliffe. It was his sixth homer of the year.

BOOG POWELL'S three-run homer in the sixth inning snapped Luis Tiat's string of shutout innings at 41 1-3 and Curt Motton clubbed a three-run pinch homer in the eight for the Orioles. Tiant, who was bidding for a record-tying fifth consecutive shutout, was saddled with his third defeat in eight decisions. Gene Brabender pitched a six-hitter to gain his third win.

GEORGE SCOTT'S third hit of the game, an eighth-inning single, drove in the winning run during a two-run rally before an overflow crowd of 35,253, Boston's largest turnout of the season.

Tom McCraw laced his second triple of the game and second hit off Jim Nash leading off the 10th inning and eventually scored the White Sox's winning run on Duane Josephson's two-out pinch single. Nash struck out 13 and held the White Sox hitless for 6 2-3 innings but nevertheless suffered his fourth loss in five decisions.
