Sun Kings in 4 Spine-Tinglers in Row; Hot Arkansas Next–

'...And More to Come'

By RAY SANCHEZ

Dudley Field visitors have gone home limp following the El Paso Sun Kings' last four games. All four games were spine-tinglers that had fans gnashing teeth, biting nails and jumping up and down.

The Kings lost in the ninth, 10-6, to Memphis Monday. Then they won three consecutive one-run games, by 4-3, 5-4 and 3-2.

Those who saw those spine-tinglers and want more, and those who missed them and would like to see some, will get a chance.

"There's more of those close ones to come," El Paso manager Chuck Tanner says. "You know who's coming in next, don't you? Arkansas."

THE ARKANSAS Travelers, in case you hadn't noticed, are leading the Texas League's Eastern Division by 3½ games and have just taken three of four games from Albuquerque, the Kings' main foe in the Western Division.

The Kings, leading the Western by 2½ games, and Arkansas will clash in a three-game series beginning tonight at 7:30 at Dudley Field. Vern Geishert will start on the mound for El Paso tonight.

THE KINGS jumped to a three-run lead in the first two innings last night against Memphis.

But those who thought they were finally in for a "breather" were sadly mistaken. The Memphis Blues battled down to the last pitch and had men on first and second when the game ended.

TOM SILVERIO continued his "vengeance rampage" against the Blues. He led off with a homer, then later added a double and single. He drove in two of the Kings' in the 3-2 win.

Since going 0 for 5 against the Blues Monday, Silverio has banged out seven hits in his last 11 trips to the plate. Three of those hits have been homers, one a triple and one a double. The Blues are no doubt happy to see the last of him for a while.

KEN TATUM shared star billing with Silverio. The steady right hander struck out eight men and walked but two while scattering six hits.

He almost went the route. He got the first two men in the ninth. He had a two strike count on Lloyd Flodin, but Flodin doubled. They he had a two-strike count on Tony Canzano, but a pitch got away and hit Canzano.

So Tanner called in Steve Kealey, who promptly got Glenn Ezell to hit a grounder to the always-dependable Gordy Avery at second.

Tatum helped offensively, too. He lined a single to drive in a run in the second.

ALBUQUERQUE put together two big innings — the fourth and fifth — to sail past the Arkansas Travelers, 4-3, last night.

The Shreveport Braves knocked four Amarillo pitchers off the mound to down the Giants 13-4 on 18 hits.

In a battle of the cellar-dwellers, both 11½ games back, Dallas-Fort Worth blanked the San Antonio Missions 3-0.

Jerry Hudgins went the distance for Albuquerque and took the win despite home runs by Michael Christino for the Travs in the second and sixth.

A Popular Miller Returns

Andy Cohen: He Used His Head

By RAY SANCHEZ

Andy Cohen, El Paso Sun Kings coach, was the subject of a column by Dick Cullum in a Minneapolis newspaper.

It's self-explanatory, so we quote:

"It is good news that Andy Cohen is coming back to play in the annual Saints-Millers Old Timers Game July 16.

"Andy was one of the most popular players of the old Millers. He has given his life to baseball ever since.

"You will have difficulty naming a player who let his head do more than Andy to extend his physical capabilities.

"Watching him play, you wondered how one second baseman could know so much more than other second basemen about how to play the batter.

"It took Millers' fans a while to appreciate Andy because they seldom saw him make a spectacular play.

"At last, after he had been around long enough, fans realized that he was making the play in his head before the pitch. He was getting to or leaning toward the point where the batted ball would go.

"Andy had no startling assets in speed, throwing arm or batting punch. He made his contribution by never doing anything wrong.

"He frustrated opponents by killing their efforts in such an offhand way that he made their good efforts seem feeble.

"He was not a high average batter, excepting for one or two good seasons, but his ratio of run-scoring hits to total hits was the highest.

"He was also one of the Miller's most popular men, among teammates and opponents as well as among fans.

"John McGraw of the New York Giants was always on the hunt for a Jewish player to appeal to the large body of Jewish fans in New York. He passed up Hank Greenberg in one of his faulty judgments but he gave Cohen a good try. Andy fell just short of meeting McGraw's requirements although he had one year in which he batted .294 in 101 games. He came to the Millers after that. Through seven years of service he became one of the fans' best remembered heroes and one of owner-manager Mike Kelley's favorite people."

John Olerud Scores Seattle's Winning Run

United Press International

Happiness is beating the Tulsa Oilers — especially if you're the Seattle Angels of the Pacific Coast League.

The Angels are holding down second place in the Western Division with an even record of 44-44, but their first victory over Tulsa in eight tries came last night with some late inning scrambling. The score was 5-4.

Art Miranda's sacrifice fly with one out in the ninth inning drove in John Olerud, called up recently from El Paso.

IN OTHER GAMES, Denver beat Hawaii, 8-6; San Diego edged Oklahoma City, 4-3, and Spokane blanked Tacoma, 4-0, in a game called after five innings because of rain. Four teams were idle.

It was an uphill battle all the way for Seattle, which spotted Tulsa two runs, fought back to lead by one, and then had to recover in the bottom of the ninth after the Oilers had tied the contest in the top of the final frame. Jay Johnstone drove in three Angel runs with a pair of homers.

BILL MELTON of Hawaii also had a pair of homers, but it just wasn't enough for the Islanders as they fought from a five-run deficit. Denver applied the clincher with a bunt single and a long double.

It was Wilson and Gilson 'n San Diego. Bill Wilson of the Padres picked up his sixth win by beating Oklahoma City. Hal Gilson of the 89ers was tagged with the defeat.

The Spokane-Tacoma contest went only five innings in Tacoma — but it was a long, long five. The game was delayed one hour and 10 minutes, interrupted for 33 minutes at the end of the fifth, and finally called after two pitches of the sixth as the rains persisted.
