

LEFT FIELDER—Back in El Paso after an absence of a couple of seasons is outfielder and slugger, Arlo Engel. Engel is joining the Sun Kings after a last-minute trade with the San Francisco Giants. He will bat in No. 4 spot.

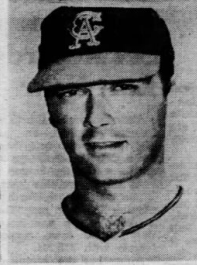

CATCHER—In spite of the fact that catcher Tom Egan spent all of last season with the California Angels he is still the second youngest player on the Sun Kings at 19. A bonus player, Egan needs hard work.

SHORTSTOP—Don Furr will give that shortstop position another battle this season for the Sun Kings. With a good year behind him at San Jose where he hit .316, The Spider feels he is ready for class AA Texas League.

ALL STAR—Back with the Sun Kings this season is Winston (Winnie) Llenas. He was the Texas League's all-star second baseman last year, and El Paso's one big threat at the plate. Winnie has been moved to third base.

BIG MAN—Workhorse of the El Paso mound staff last season and slated to see just as much action this year is right hander Paul Mosley. He appeared in 63 games for the Sun Kings last season, and had an 8-10 record.

LOW BRIDGE—This could be the season that right hander Les (The Bull) Mundell comes into his own. His problem up to now has been control. He stands 6-3, and weighs 215 pounds. He is one pitcher hitters don't trifle with.

TWO KEY MEN—Two of the key men for the Sun Kings on the field are trainer Pete Luther on the left, and Sun King manager Chuck Tanner. The third member of this trio for home games is Coach Andy Cohen. This is the second year in El Paso for Luther and Tanner, making them veterans in the league.
