

Gatewood To Hurl Monday

By CHUCK WHITLOCK

Albuquerque's Dodgers combined the only two hits they could manage off reliefer Gary Fischer for a lone run in the eighth inning Sunday afternoon, but it was enough for a 5-4 victory to spoil El Paso's home opener in the Texas League and extend the Kings' losing streak to three games.

An opening-day crowd of 2,496 saw the Kings rally on Arlo Engel's two-run double in the sixth inning to tie the score at 4-4, then watched Dodger reliefer Mel McGavock slam the door to protect his victory.

The two teams meet in the second game of the opening set and their fourth in a row at 7:27 p.m. Monday, with big Aubrey Gatewood scheduled to hurl for the Sun Kings as they seek to break out of their string. Albuquerque took both games at the Duke City with superlative mound work.

The Dodgers jumped to a quick 3-0 lead in the first two innings as the Kings were charged with three bobbles and the visitors touched starter Jim Holbrook for four hits in the second inning.

After the first two frames, however, the big right hander proved tough, yielding the visitors to three more hits and a lone sixth-inning run.

Jim Spencer, big port-siding first baseman, broke the ice for the Sun Kings when he hammered one of John Hill's offerings high over the right-field fence in the fourth inning.

The Sun Kings broke loose from Hill in the sixth with their big inning. With one away Hill walked Jay Johnstone, then fanned Spencer. Winston Llenas slapped a roller to left which Jim Barfield tried to cut off then failed to find the handle. Tom Egan slashed a single through third base to score Johnstone and a wild pitch advanced both runners.

Engel stepped to the plate and slammed a double off the boards in right field to tie the count and bring on McGavock.

The 29-year-old righthander fanned Don Wilkinson to get out of the inning.

Fischer took the mound for the Kings in the seventh after manager Chuck Tanner had used a pinch-hitter, and kept the Dodgers in check most of the time.

In the eighth, with two away—one of them Don Fumald's—spectacular grab of Willie Crawford's torrid liner over short—Cleo James belted a double to the fence in left field. An intentional walk put Jim Ferry on base and then Roy Gleason poked a single into left field for the winning run.

Opening ceremonies for the season drew huge applause for members of the Texas Western Miner football and basketball squads and coaching staffs. Basketball coach Don Haskins and football coach Bobby Dobbs took part in a fungo contest with Tanner and coach Andy Cohen.

Billy Stevens, TWC quarterback, opened the season by throwing out the first ball, after startling everyone by hurling a perfect pass to home plate.
