Sun King Franchise Sold To California Angels

AL Club To Name New GM

The El Paso Sun Kings of the Texas League passed from community operation to major league ownership Monday with the sale of the franchise and equipment to the California Angels of the American League. The club had been operated since 1961 by El Paso Sports Association, Inc., a non-profit organization.

Joint announcement of the sale was made by Fred Haney, general manager of the Angels, in Anaheim, Calif., and by John Phelan, president of El Paso Sports Association.

The Sun Kings had operated under a working agreement with the Angels for the past two years.

Under terms of the new ownership the Sun Kings will continue to operate in El Paso as a member of the Texas League. Naming of a general manager by the Angels is expected in the near future.

El Paso is the fourth of the six Texas League clubs to be owned outright by the major leagues. Albuquerque is owned by the Los Angeles Dodgers, Amarillo by the Houston Astros, and Austin by the Atlanta Braves.

Only Arkansas (St. Louis) and Dallas-Fort Worth (Chicago Cubs), remain under private ownership with working agreements.

"We are delighted that the California Angels think so highly of El Paso and its baseball future that they would be willing to invest their money here," Phelan said.

"Our local group, which has financed the operation since 1961, feels that the sale of the team to the Angels will further enhance the continuation and stability of baseball in El Paso," he said. "We feel that we havefulfilled our pledge to our community by bringing professional baseball back and assuring its future here."

H. D. Fulwiler, chairman of the board of the El Paso Sports Association, Inc., said the group would continue as an organization and would give the California Angels unlimited support in its operation here.

"All they have to do is let us know what they want," Fulwiler said, "and we'll roll up our sleeves and go to work!"

Details of the sale are simple. For $1 the Angels received the franchise, plus all office, concession, and playing equipment.

A major stipulation is that the club and equipment be sold back to the El Paso Sports Association for the same sum of $1 if ever the Angels wish to leave El Paso.

"This is a mere formality to protect El Paso against the possible loss of professional baseball," Phelan said.

El Paso Sports Association, Inc., was organized in November, 1960 as a non-profit group with 40 local businessmen signing personal pledges of $500 each to guarantee against any losses by the professional team. In 1961, the Sun Kings became a member of the Class DK Sophomore League and drew 96,000 fans. The association was headed by the late Dan R. Ponder.

In 1962, El Paso gained with Albuquerque to become a member of the Class A Texas League and in its first season won the Texas League penant and drew 149,000 customers.

In 1963 Phelan was elevated from executive vice president to president and Ponder became chairman of the board.

Until 1963 the Kings flew the banner of the San Francisco Giants and saw many of their fledgling ball players reach the major leagues—such players as Jesus Alou, Cap Peterson, Carl Boles, Randy Hundley, Vic Romosky, Manny Mota, Tim Talton, Minero Rojas, Jose Cardenal, and others.

Under the Angels, the Sun Kings have sent to the parent club such stars as Clyde Wright and Jay Johnstone.

In six years of operation, the 40 underwriters have not been called upon to underwrite losses, Phelan pointed out. Profits realized in 1961, 1962, and 1963 were kept in reserve under the organization's by-laws to absorb losses and to make capital improvements at Dudley Field.

Officers of the association are Fulwiler, chairman of the board; Phelan, president; Harry Elliott, Andy Cohen, A. R. (Chick) Arnold, and Jack Niland, vice-presidents; Dorr Miller, treasurer; and R. F. Hayesworth, secretary.

"We wish to extend our sincere appreciation to such stalwart employes as Earl Hardaa and Bob Redman who served with us from our inception and did such an outstanding job," Phelan said.

Fred Herschleder, who assumed the duties as business manager last June, will continue with the organization in a similar capacity.

"We are pleased that a man of Colonel Herschleder's caliber would join our organization. Fred has done a great job and his tireless work is only exceeded by his boundless enthusiasm," Phelan said.

Notre Dame Retains Top Spot

He Loses Too

Reporter Becomes Coach

Erie, Pa. (AP) — "Since Polancy seems to know so much more about coaching than I do, he can coach my team Saturday and I'll write his column."

So Jack Polancy, sports editor of the Erie Morning News, did just that — and his team lost 26-0.

For three weeks, Polancy's column was critical of the Erie Tech High School team — winless all season. After he referred to the team last week as "the most inept in city series football," Coach Tom Parry said he had enough and told Polancy to coach the team.

Saturday night, Polancy was on the sidelines, telling Parry what plays to call against Academy.

Polancy said, "Tech was down 12-0 near the end of the second quarter. We had the ball on Academy's one and I told Tom to run it. I mean to use a wing-T, but he thought I meant for him to use the shotgun.

"As a result," he said, "the guy fumbled on the six and that was the closest we came to scoring."

After the game, Parry said, "the feud started with a little animosity, but I think we understand each other a little better now."

What does Polancy think of coaching now that he's had a taste of it?

"Coaching itself is all right, but I wouldn't want to do it for a living. I'd rather write. Besides, you can see better from the press box."

Parry will write Polancy's column to be published Wednesday.

"I don't know what he's going to say yet in my column," Polancy says, "but if I were him I'd get rid of my staff and start from scratch."

Although Parry isn't sure what he will say Wednesday, he plans to get in a few barbs. "I don't feel that coverage of E-le sports has been adequate and I'm going to say something about that," he said.

Wyoming Makes Top Ten

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas of the Southwest Conference and Wyoming, the Western Athletic Conference leader, gained rankings while powerful Notre Dame maintained a commanding lead in The Associated Press' major-college football poll Monday.

Oklahoma and Purdue, beaten by Notre Dame and Michigan State, respectively, last Saturday dropped out of the Top Ten as Arkansas moved into ninth place and Wyoming took over 10th.

Notre Dame drew 32 first-place votes and 397 points in the latest balloting by a national panel of 41 sports writers and broadcasters. Michigan State, the early season pace-setter, held the No. 2 position with 344 points, including 30 for five first-place votes. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first-place vote, 9 for second etc.

The unbeaten Irish walloped Oklahoma 26-0 for victory No. 5 while Michigan State, undefeated in six games, trounced Purdue 41-20.

UCLA remained in third place followed by Alabama, Southern California, Georgia Tech, Florida and Nebraska.

Florida and Nebraska switched positions, the Gators advancing to seventh after defeating Louisiana State 28-7 while Nebraska, which had a tough time in edging Colorado 21-19, slipped to eighth.

UCLA beat California 28-15, Alabama walloped Vanderbilt 42-6, Southern California blanked Clemson 30-0 and Georgia Tech beat Tulane 35-17.

Arkansas overwhelmed Wichita State 41-0 for its fifth victory against one setback. Wyoming, 6-0, beat Utah State 35-10.

Notre Dame plays Navy at Philadelphia and Michigan State is at Northwestern this weekend. Other games involving teams in the first ten match UCLA and the Air Force, Alabama and Mississippi State, Southern California and Miami, Fla., Georgia Tech and Duke, Florida and Auburn, Nebraska and Missouri, Arkansas and Texas A&M, and Wyoming and Colorado State.

The Top Ten, with first place votes in parentheses, won-lost records and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. Notre Dame (32)	(5-0)	397

10. Wyoming	(6-0)	31

Miners Get Two Day Rest

After eight or nine grinding weeks, the Texas Miners were granted two day liberty passes from practice by drill master Bobby Dobbs who will gather his troops Wednesday to start preparing for the Nov. 5 engagement with Brigham Young.

The two day rest period came on the heels of last Saurday night's 35-6 blistering of San Jose State in the Sun Bowl. It was the Miners' fourth straight win after two disappointing losses to open the campaign.

"We feel the rest will help restore some life to their legs," the knowing Dobbs observed. It should certainly help our receivers who run more than any players in the nation."

The big, affable Dobbs, who was disappointed with the way his teams started the season, is pleased with the way the Miners have come back in the last four weeks.

"We had a little prayer meeting after our loss at North Texas State," he said.

What has been the key to the Miners' comeback?

"Dedication," Dobbs replied quickly.

"Dedication is something we didn't have in our first two games. We were trying to play on last year's record.

"We are not a better ball club at this point as we were a year ago. But this is an improving ball club. We are improving each game because of the young players we have."

The young players, Dobbs refers to, include five sophomores and one junior college transfer who are playing either offense or defense with the starting units.

On the defensive unit, which shut down San Jose State's highly touted offense to minus 16 yards for the game, are such sophs as Brooks Dawson, Grady Cavness and Dick Daugherty in the secondary. With the offensive unit are guard Wally Gulford, fullback Leroy Johnson, a soph, and JC import Larry Mc-Henry, a running back.

The five have played key roles in the first six games. Cavness has intercepted three passes, Dawson two and Daugherty one. Johnson has amassed 193-yards rushing while McHenry has netted 208-yards and three touchdowns.

Another sophomore, Reg Mathews, 5-foot-7, 167-pound scooter from Galveston, established a new school record against San Jose State by taking a punt back 53-yards for a score. It rubbed out the 50-yard runback set last season by Bob Wallace against Utah.

Many other sophomores see action nearly every game as Dobbs continues to build the Miners into one of the nation's strongest teams.

Dobbs is red-shirting seven members of his team including quarterbacks Dennis Neimeyer and Tom Galloway; end Sim Plarcek and linemen Dennis Bishop, Arnd Hermann and Walter Olivert.

The Miners hit the break point in their schedule with a 4-2 record and, barring practice injuries, will enter the Brigham Young contest at full strength.

YOU BE THE QUARTERBACK

You, the Oklahoma State quarterback against Iowa State, kick off with a line drive straight at an Iowa guard. The guard raises his hand above his head, catches the ball, moves two steps forward. As you evade a blocker and rush straight toward the guard, should you:

1. Tackle hard — it's open season on guards?
2. Leave the guard alone — you can fair-catch a kickoff?
