Stuart, April 3—Sounds in the spring . . . And isn't 20-year-old Yankee Tony Kubek plainly the rookie sensation of the Grapefruit League?

When Sports Today talked to Tony, who's up from Denver, the young man didn't know about playing the outfield: "I've only played seven games out there in my life."

That was three weeks ago. Listen to what manager Casey Stengel says about the kid today? "I know he can play as a major leaguer at shortstop, leftfield, centerfield and second base. He gets as good a jump on the ball in the outfield as any kid I've ever seen breaking in."

Best bet: Kubek to open in leftfield for the Yankees.

ANDY COHEN, Indianapolis manager: "We've played Buffalo four times this spring and won three of 'em. But let me tell you that club has some real power. Luke Easter hit one a mile against us."

JOHNNY MOSTIL, White Sox scout and old outfielder: "I used to admire many third strikes thrown past me by Walter Johnson. He was the fastest. Rube

Walberg had a better curve than Lefty Grove, but Lefty was faster. Herb Score looks like Grove did at that age."

Cleveland general manager Hank Greenberg: "It's not going to take much to win the pennant this year." (Not for the Yankees, Hank.)

Answer to yesterday's puzzle: A pair of Cleveland pitchers named Smith and Bagby stopped Joe DiMaggio's hitting streak at 56, on July 17, 1941 . . . What pitcher did Babe Ruth hit that record 60th home run off on Sept. 30, 1927?
