

SPORTS TODAY

By Norris Anderson

More Schooling For DeVore

Chuck DeVore, former U-Miami lineman, is back in school after duty as a detective. Wants to teach . . . Old double-no hit, Johnny Vander Meer, has signed to manage Palatka (Florida State League) again this year.

CHUCK DEVORE

Outside of a skinny guy I know named Ted Williams, Johnny is the most skilled fisherman in Florida . . . Albert Klein, 250-pound head-waiter for Alan Gale is mostly bay window, but was a 11 times selection for Ali-America soccer team. "I weighed less then," says Albert . . . Pat Smith, lifeguard at the Silver Sands Motel, asks: "Whatever happened to old Giant infielder Andy Cohen?" Well, Pat,

Andy happens to be an old friend of mine and he's now managing Denver, the Yankees' No. 1 farm club . . . Jockey Manuel Ycaza of the Hialeah set once studied to become an attorney. Real class little gentleman, this kid . . . Vin Scully (ol' carrot top) and Jerry Doggett signed to broadcast the Dodgers' games. Speaking of the Burns, veep Red Patterson is already holding forth from Vero Beach—and is there a more effective old pro operating among the ex-newspapermen? . . . Jacksonville's Sam Wolfson, a millionaire several times over, is entitled to $4,800 yearly salary in his new job as president of the Sally League. But Sam typically will serve without pay, office rent or travel expenses. Real credit to baseball, this guy . . . Joe DiMaggio again dickering for regular TV show . . . Milwaukee's Lew Burdette, the World Series Merriwell, got $750 all winter for banquet appearances, but wonders if digesting the rubber chicken was worth it . . . Second baseman Nellie Fox's $43,000 makes him the highest paid White Soxer in history, topping George Kell's 40 big ones. And, shucks, back in 1948, I was with Nellie on a ball club (Lincoln, Western League) when he was makin' $500 a month—and worth $1,500, natch . . . Isn't Hank Greenberg trying to buy the Cincinnati franchise with idea of moving it to New York? . . . Kid Gavilan's real name is Gerardo Gonzalez and he's in his 20th year of fighting—started in the Cuban amateurs when he was a tender 12 . . . Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey spending $50,000 just to dress off his infield . . . Del Ennis is now beefing up Cardinals' batting order, but he's building a half million buck bowling layout in his old Philadelphia stompings.
