

SPORTS SHORTS

Andy Cohen With Phillies; Ski Star Out of Olympics

THE PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES announced the appointment of a former major-league second-baseman Andy Cohen, as infield coach. Cohen, 55, broke into baseball in 1925 after being graduated from the University of Alabama. He played shortstop for the 1927 International League pennant-winning

Andy Cohen

Buffalo Bisons, then second base for the New York Giants. He was a minor-league manager from 1939 to 1958, except for a three-year hitch in the armed forces during World War II. . . . Another ex Bison, Al Unser, 47, was named manager of Keokuk in the Class C Midwest League. Unser caught for the Detroit Tigers in the majors.

* * *

ALEX OLMEDO, now a professional, was ranked first in the 1959 men's singles ratings recommended by the United States Lawn Tennis Association Ranking Committee. After the Peruvian star of the United States Davis Cup team came Tut Bartzen, Barry MacKay, Ron Holmberg and Dick Savitt. . . . Doug Weaver, who only seven years ago was a linebacker at Michigan State, was named football coach at Kansas State. At 29 he is the youngest coach in the Big Eight Conference. He succeeds Bus Mertes.