

<https://www.newspapers.com/image/798420274/>

HISTORIC SITE PLANTING—Monument number one, built in 1855, and the first marker of 248 marking the U.S. Mexican boundary for 700 miles to the Pacific Ocean, was the site of a mulberry tree planting ceremony today, a joint effort of the El Paso and Dona Ana County Historical Societies, Beautify El Paso and the U.S. Section of the International Boundary and Water Commission. Fifty trees will be planted here and a small park built. From left: Andy Cohen, president of of Beautify El Paso; Mrs. Mabel Welch, organization founder; Miss Louise Garrett, president of the Dona Ana County Historical Society; Leon Metz, president of the El Paso Historical Society and Boundary Commissioner, Joseph Friedkin.