

QUITS SUN DODGERS—
Monty Basgall who resigned as manager of the Sun Dodgers. He'll be succeeded by Stan Wasiak of Daytona Beach, Fla.

Wasiak of Daytona Is New E.P. Boss

By BOB INGRAM

Monty Basgall today resigned as manager of El Paso Sun Dodgers, saying the emotional strain of running the club was too big a burden on him.

Stan Wasiak, manager of the Daytona Beach club in the Florida State League, was named to succeed Basgall.

He will take over the Sun Dodgers tomorrow night.

Andy Cohen, the first base coach of the Sun Dodgers, will direct the team tonight in its third game of the series with the Alexandria, La., Aces.

BASGALL PLANS to return to scouting, a job he had from 1959 until he became manager of the Albuquerque Dodgers in the Texas League last season. He has also been an infield instructor in the Los Angeles Dodger organization.

He's leaving the Sun Dodgers with the season nearly half over without any pressure from the Los Angeles Dodger club or from the front office of the Sun Dodgers.

WILLIAM P. SCHWEPPE, farm director of the Los Angeles Dodgers, in fact, tried to persuade Basgall to continue running the Sun Dodgers.

"He told me my primary job here was to develop ball players," said Basgall. "But it tears me up to lose. I can't sleep after a loss."

"WE ARE SORRY to see him leave the manager's post," Bill Wood, general manager of the Sun Dodgers said, "but we recognize the factors that led to his decision and wish him well in his return to the scouting field."

Basgall emphasized that the Sun Dodger personnel had no bearing on his decision. "This is an excellent group of young players with a great deal of talent. I feel they have an excellent chance of winning the Texas League pennant."

"I AM GOING to miss my association with the players."

The Sun Dodgers are in second place in the Western Division of the Texas League, only three games behind the Amarillo Giants.

Basgall and his wife will remain in El Paso throughout the current homestand and then will go to their home in Sedalia, Mo.
