

Sun Dodgers Take a Bow

EDITOR: As baseball season comes to a close, I believe it timely and apt to express appreciation to the El Paso Sun Dodgers, for presenting the Sun City with an outstanding team who, in its first season of operation, provided more than 100,000 spectators with top baseball entertainment and sports thrills.

Most importantly, through the cooperation and efforts of the Sun Dodgers' staff: Stan Wasiak, Bill Wood, Willy Sanchez, Andy Cohen, and the well mannered usherettes, ticket sellers and concessionaires, many El Paso youngsters and numerous deserving clients of our city's varied non-profit organizations, were provided, free of charge, with the opportunity to view baseball at its best in the pleasant environment of remodeled Dudley Field.

The fact that the Sun Dodgers in its rookie year unprecedently went on to win the Texas League Championship was frosting on the delightful cake.

Many thanks Sun Dodgers for your civic contributions and your adding to the many aspects that make El Paso a pleasant place to live and to raise a family. We look forward to your return on the baseball diamond next season. — Robert A. Stern, Executive Director, Goodwill Industries of El Paso, Inc.

Dr. Ortego Leaves UTEP

EDITOR: As the purpose of any newspaper is to inform its readers on a wide range of matters, I think it only proper to notify those El Pasoans who do not yet know of Dr. Philip D. Ortego's departure from the U.T. El Paso campus.

Dr. Ortego, former English assistant professor and director of the Chicano Affairs Program, left the university faculty on August 30 as a protest resignation. From speaking with him, I found that his reasons were varied. However, what seemed to be foremost in his mind was that of the 27 high-level vacancies which could have been at least partially filled by Chicanos, only one Mexican-American was appointed and that, I might add, was on an ad interim basis. Fortunately, the temporary status was changed to a permanent one when Dr. Norma Hernandez was assigned as chairman of the Curriculum and Instruction Department on September 1.

Denver, Colo., is now Ortego's place of residence. He serves as assistant to the president at Metropolitan State College and is continuing to be an active participant in the Chicano movement.

Many can say that the former CAP director left an imprint on a score of people. His motivation and vivacity we will always remember. His call to duty he will invariably realize. — Lourdes Tinajero. 117 N. Toledo.
