Hollywood, Fla.—The Indianapolis Indians open their 19-game spring baseball schedule here today against the Buffalo Bisons of the International League.

New Tribe Manager Andy Cohen, a camp absentee yesterday while he conferred with Chicago White Sox Vice-President John Rigney in Tampa, plans to use three of his regular pitchers—Al Papai, Tony Ponce and Arnie Atkins.

That hurling trio, plus only a few others in today's starting lineup, comprise a small part of the squad that eventually will head north for the American Association season opener, April 16, in Indianapolis.

Papai was a 20-game winner last year at Memphis. Ponce worked at Louisville and Miami and was a distinct headache to Indianapolis while he was with the Colonels. Atkins won 13 last year at San Diego.

Cohen will start Sam Hairston behind the plate. His infield will be Don Mincher, an 18-year-old rookie, at first; Vince Garcia at second; Don Bacon at short and Charley Williams, third base. Ted Beard, Dom DiTusa and Marion Sheets will play in the outfield. Garcia is the only one who played triple-A ball last season. He was with Wichita.

In an intracamp game here yesterday the Hutchings defeated the Mulcahys, 10-7. All of the Mulcahy runs were scored off Dick Ramos. Frank Messin and Glen Rosenbaum each hurled three shutout innings for the Hutchings. Messin also clouted a home run.

The Indians get a steady diet of spring training games with the exception of one open date, March 31. They are due to break camp April 14 and fly directly to Indianapolis.
