

Miner Game Canceled By Showers

Rain washed out the final game of the baseball set between University of Texas at El Paso and Colorado State College Saturday and gave Andy Cohen's Miners an added day of rest.

Saturday morning's showers put Dudley Field's playing area in such condition that the game was cancelled.

The Miners return to their tight schedule Monday when they meet Denver University at 2:30 p.m. to open a two-game set. Second game is scheduled Tuesday afternoon.

Colorado State University's Rams will be here for single games Wednesday and Thursday, followed by Colorado University on Friday and Saturday.
