

Five Athletes Inducted Into El Paso Hall Of Fame

9 Named Athletes Of Year

El Paso bowed a galaxy of new and old stars into the heavenly Tuesday night as five participating athletes were inducted into the El Paso Athletic Hall of Fame and nine young athletes were honored as Athletes of the Year.

Before a full house of more than 600 at Sheraton-Mission Agatha Lee George Hall, Mike Iaquerra, Dale Waters and Ben Collins were inducted into the hall of fame.

Honored as Athletes of the Year were Mike Archibald of University of Texas at El Paso's Western Athletic Conference championship, John Burgess, an El Pasoan who was a starter on the New Mexico State University basketball team which won third place in the NCAA, and the seven distance runners who won the U.S. Trail and Field Federation cross country championships.

The history of each honoree was reviewed and each received a plaque emblematic of the honor.

Collins, former U.T. El Paso football coach and athletic director, who coached the last El Paso Miners, was given great credit for the growth of the district's athletic program.

Waters, athletic director for El Paso Independent School District since 1958, was given great credit for the growth of the district's athletic program.

Mr. Lee, who has won countless gold medals and dominated women's golf through out the Southwest for many years, credited her husband, C. D. Lee, and Jack Hardin, her first golf teacher, for starting her success in golf.

"Paper" said he practiced golf in 1952 because he was tired of coming home from playing golf to a screaming wife and a cold supper. Now he complains that he has a cold and cold his own paper.

George Ball, who has been awarded national ranking in tennis more than 40 times in his career stretching through high school in his present competitive status, credited the honor actually to his tennis family. His father, the late H. J. Ball, and brothers Harold and Joe also attained national ranking, and he said he was accepting the honor for the Ball family.

Archibald, who has received great honors for his play in basketball, all-star, was one of the stars of the evening, but shared the spotlight with Burgess and the cross-country team.

Honored for their two national running titles were Kerry Pearce, Ken Brown, Gary Mazzoni, Dan McKillop, Robert Davis, John Bednarski and Bob Walz.
