

Indians' Manager To Appear At Boat Show

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 22—Baseball fans will have their first opportunity tonight to meet Andy Cohen, the Indians' new manager.

Cohen will be at the Sport Show in the Fairgrounds Coliseum. He will be introduced during the stage show which starts at 8 p. m. and will greet fans at the Indians' display booth. Tonight is the only time Cohen will be at the Sport Show.

He and Donie Bush, Tribe president, leave tomorrow for a tour of major league spring training camps. They will be at Tampa for the opening of the Chicago White Sox camp February 28 and will be at Hollywood, Fla., for the opening of the Indians' camp on March 12.

Johnny Hutchings, the Indians' popular coach, will be at the Indians' booth at the Sport Show every night and during the daytime hours Saturday and Sunday in addition to the night openings.
