

Lowrey Signs To Manage New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS—(UP)—Harry Lee (Peanuts) Lowrey, 38, was named playing manager of the New Orleans Pelicans yesterday with the solid backing of New York Manager Casey Stengel.

General Manager of the Pels, Vince Rizzo, made the announcement. Lowrey got the nod when approved by Lee MacPhail, farm director of the Yankees. The Pels, of the Southern Association, and the Yanks have a working agreement this year.

Rizzo said Lowrey came "highly recommended." In fact, Casey was the one who recommended him for the job. He was picked over eight or nine others considered to succeed Andy Cohen."
