

PATTON'S PATTERN

By BOB PATTON

West Catholic's cagers get a chance tonight to atone for the only setback on the school's football record of last season when they play Tunkhannock at home. The Tigers handed West its only setback in eight grid games by a 14-0 score.

With the 6-6 Jim Hudock, now starting his fourth season of varsity ball, averaging 35 points per game, Tunkhannock is favored to bag its fifth straight win. The Tigers were unbeaten in football and they stand a good chance of going all the way in basketball until they face Swoyersville in the final game on Feb. 25 at home.

Tunkhannock is playing independent basketball this season with a new coach at the helm. Ambrose (Dutch) Keller gave up the post after leading the team to 118 victories against 62 defeats in nine seasons. The new boss is Edward Serfass.

The Tigers won honors in the Back Mountain League last season and then found themselves without competition for 1958 when the loop disbanded. Lehman and Dallas, longtime members of the loop, became the seventh and eighth members of the North League while Harter went into the East Anthracite League. Lake-Noxen is playing independent ball with Tunkhannock.

When the Conwell family moved from New York City to East End a few months ago, St. Mary's got two additional athletes and Coughlin one. The family took over the business operated by Bob Jones, the cage and grid official.

It didn't take long for one of the boys to produce in a hurry for St. Mary's. Leo, a senior, tossed in 25 points to nearly ruin West Catholic the other night. St. Mary's lost in two overtime periods. Conwell and his mates are in for another tough game as they oppose the strong St.

Baseball Notes:

Andy Cohen, who played many games at Artillery Park as an infielder in the Eastern League, has been named manager of the Yankee farm club at Denver in the American Association. He worked at Indianapolis last season.

Hal Kleine, a southpaw hurler who had a 9-9 record for the Barons in 1943 and then played two seasons with Cleveland, passed away at St. Louis the other day following an appendectomy and a gall bladder operation. Kleine and Gene Woodling were teammates here, Gene led the Eastern League in batting in 1943 with a .344 mark. He hit .322 at Cleveland last season. The late Tony Lazzeri was manager of the Barons in 1943.

Danny Carnevale, manager of the Barons in 1954, is the center of a controversy at Buffalo following the club's fine season last year. One faction wants to oust Carnevale as general manager and the other wants to keep him. Danny is a salesman for a Buffalo brewery in the off season. The club wants a fulltime office boss.

The 1958 Chicago White Sox outfield probably will comprise ex-Baron Al Smith in left field, Jim Landis in center and Tito Francona in right.

Connie Ryan, third base coach for the world champion Milwaukee Braves, will manage Seattle in the Pacific Coast League in 1958. Clyde King, 1957 manager of Hollywood, will pilot the Columbus, Ohio, Jets, a Pittsburgh Pirate farm club in the International League, in 1958.

Tommy Holmes, last-half manager of Montreal in 1957, plans to return to the scouting field for the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1958. He once managed in the Eastern League.
