

Eaton To Face Raiders

Andy Cohen is expected to start lefthander Tony Eaton in the first game of a double-header tomorrow at 1 p.m. against Texas Tech at Dudley Field.

Mike Kruta, a junior college transfer from Arlington, Tex., or David Wade, a JC transfer student from Ranger, will start the second game. The two teams will meet again in a twinbill Saturday at 1 p.m.

COHEN ANNOUNCED that he would probably start the following lineup tomorrow: Larry McKay, leftfield; Malcolm McLean, centerfield; Herb Von Hagen, shortstop; Barry Alburdis, first base; Eloy Alvarado, rightfield; Mark Miller, third base; Terry Baker, second base; Tim Peden, catcher and Eaton, pitcher.

"Eaton has been looking pretty fair," Cohen pointed out. "He is a little older and more experienced. I want to see how they (Texas Tech) reacts to his lefthanded slanted pitch."

Texas Tech's All-American pitcher Ruben Garcia is expected to make start against the Miners, 2-0 for the season, this weekend.
