Miner 9 Near '72 Win Total

U. T. El Paso hosts Southern Colorado State College tomorrow at 2 p.m. in the first of a two-game baseball stand at Dudley Field.

The Miners, 9-5, were scheduled to play Colorado State University today. Andy Cohen's nine are within three victories of matching last year's entire win total for the season (12-39).

Slumber bats woke up for the second straight game yesterday as U.T.-El Paso cracked out 12 hits and ran up a 12-3 win over Colorado State. The Miners had 16 hits and a 12-3 margin over Northern Colorado Saturday.

SHORTSTOP Herb von Hagen collected three hits and drove in four runs, two on a fourth inning home run, to pace the Miners. Von Hagen, who was hitting .138 entering Friday's game against Denver, has collected nine hits in his last 13 plate appearances and has brought his average up to a healthy .310.

"Von Hagen's home run," remarked Cohen, "sure didn't hurt us any in getting us started."

"We made a few mistakes early in the game, but came back well. Colorado State has a good ball club. They are big and can hit the ball solid. Ray Greggerson pitched a good game, especially in the late innings."
