

Miners End Poor WAC Campaign

U.T.-El Paso's baseball team had only one bad streak during the 1973 season. Unfortunately, the streak came when it counted—the Western Athletic Conference Southern Division race.

The Miners lost 16 of their last 17 games, 15 of which were WAC contests, to finish with a 18-27 season record. U.T.-El Paso was 2-16 in WAC play.

"WE SHOULD have won quite a number of other games," coach Andy Cohen remarked, "but we threw the ball away so many times. Despite losing the kids kept on hustling when some would have given up.

"We had an 8-7 lead over New Mexico Saturday in the eighth inning, but we had to use five pitchers when the Lobos rallied for eight runs on nine hits to beat us 15-10."

New Mexico won the second game 3-1.

COHEN PREDICTED that Arizona State would win the College Baseball World Series because "they are well-balanced and poised."

Graduating from this year's Miner team are Terry Baker, Eloy Alvarado, Barry Alburtis and Tim Peden.
