SATURDAY'S LOCK(EROOM), STOCK AND BARREL.

And I wonder if Southwestern Louisiana's premier basketball will go down with the Ship(ley). Jim Paul, sports information director of SWL and former assistant SID at UTEP, wrote a six-page treatise on the rise of Beryl Shipley, the Cajun coach, and events that led to his resignation this week. There were many trials and tribulations for Shipley, culminating with the Southland Conference ousting him for calling it a Mickey Mouse league. Headline in Phoenix paper: "Miners Diamond Champs." It didn't refer to Andy Cohen's Miners but to San Manuel High School Miners in Arizona. What they're doing now: Bill Michael, former U.T. El Paso assistant who was forced to resign his coaching job at Oklahoma after the transcript tampering case, is in Little Rock taking a management course for a restaurant chain. There are reports that Michael will join Chuck Fairbanks, the former Oklahoma coach, on the staff of the New England Patriots. Two quarterbacks named Jackson have been in the news. Kerry Jackson of Oklahoma has been ruled ineligible next season because his credentials from Galveston Ball High were changed and Mark Jackson is leaving UTEP for a Southwest Conference school. Mary Huana has been reading about so many junk pitchers in baseball that she's thinking of opening a junk yard to supply them with materials. If the St. Louis Cardinals continue their surge, shouldn't they be named the Busch Whackers? And did you hear of the circus performer who took a bath and left three rings?
