

Andy Lauds Miner Staff In Sweep

University of Texas at El Paso coach Andy Cohen has seen a few baseball games at Dudley Field so when the veteran skipper talks . . . people listen.

"I'll tell you that's as fine a pair of well-pitched games as people have ever seen here," Cohen remarked after his Miners swept a doubleheader from New Mexico Highlands 5-0 and 2-1 yesterday. "I've never seen two games like that on the same day. And let me tell you something else, that second game was a standout pitching duel. Both those kids threw great games."

COHEN GOT route-going efforts from righty Bob Knox and southpaw Ron Wrobel to extend UTEP's season mark to 15-9. Knox, a pencil-thin sidewinder, tossed a two-hitter in the opener while second baseman Dave Patt sparked two rallies with singles.

In the 10-inning nightcap Wrobel locked up with fellow southpaw Charlie Schlosser for the duration, emerging a winner only when the Highland rightfielder misplayed a windblown flyball in the last of the 10th.

WROBEL PICKED up his fourth win in six outings, permitting only three singles, an unearned run and striking out five. Schlosser worked out of a little more difficulty, scattering 11 Miner hits and walking seven. The NHM pitcher stranded 15 UTEP baserunners.

Centerfielder Joe Pennies went 4-for-4 in the nightcap and had five hits on the day, topping all Orange bats.
