

Miners Come Back to Earth

U.T.-El Paso's winning streak stopped at the right time.

The Miners, riding on a nine-game winning streak, lost the second game of a double-header yesterday to New Mexico Highlands.

Coach Andy Cohen's diamondmen start Western Athletic Conference action April 9 against Arizona University. U.T.-El Paso will play only three games between now and conference play and the loss sent the Miners back to earth and gives them a chance to regroup themselves.

HIGHLANDS tapped out 16 hits and outscored the Miners 14-2 to gain the second game decision. Jim Prete, Sal Perez and Dave Oster were the big guns for the Cowboys. Prete slammed two doubles and knocked in four runs; Oster hit a perfect 5-for-5 at the plate, and Perez slapped a two-run homer in the big eight-run fourth inning for Highlands.

Marc Bombard was in complete command over Highlands in the opener as U.T.-El Paso came out on top 5-1.

Bombard scattered five hits and allowed only one runner to reach second base after allowing a run in the first inning. The portsider, in gaining his sixth victory of the season in eight decisions, completed his fifth game of the year. Bombard struck out only four, the lowest total for him in a completed game this year.

Outfielder Rick Butler put the Miners out ahead to stay in the first inning with his third homer of the season, a three-run shot.
