

Disa and Data

DENVER IS WINGING out front in the American Association with three Virginians of last season playing regularly. Outfielder Gordy Windhorn is batting in the No. 3 spot for the Bears; Dick Sanders, shifted to the outfield this season, is batting No. 5; and Tommy Carroll is playing shortstop for Andy Cohen's Denver club. In addition, Stan Johnson, a pitcher who could not make it with the Vees last year, is 4-0 in relief with Denver . . . Ebba St. Claire, Virginian catcher in 1955, was sold to Atlanta by Toronto. It was from Atlanta that St. Claire went up to the majors (Boston Braves) back in 1951 . . . Buffalo Manager Phil Cavarretta, on the subject of Bison Pitcher Glenn Cox: "Cox means more to our club than the number of victories he pitches or the home runs he may hit. He's just an All-American guy and it's wonderful to have him in the clubhouse and on the bench. He lifts up everyone." . . . Stan Musial's first major-league hit came off Jim Tobin, of Boston, in the second game of a double-header on September 17, 1941. It was a single. Musial's 3,001st hit came off Giant Pitcher Johnny Antonelli last night—a first-inning home run. An improvement by three bases as The Man started out on his second 3,000th hit.