

Announcer's Slip Makes Bat Boy Pinch-hitter In One Of Season's Oddities

By RUDY CERNKOVIC
PITTSBURGH (UPI)—This was the season when a lost boy was announced as a Chicago Cub pinchhitter, when the stork inspired a pitcher to victory, when a radio broadcaster and a manager swapped jobs and a tiger nearly clawed the working arm of a pitcher.

Grady Hatton was sent to bat for Cub pitcher Bob Anderson at Forbes Field. Pirate broadcaster Bob Prince, unable to see Hatton's number, heard Art McKenman, public address announcer, say "...Rab Mungee."

"The Cubs are sending in Rab Mungee to bat for Anderson," Prince informed his listeners.

What Prince didn't learn until later was that Rab Mungee was a 12-year-old boy lost in the ballpark.

News That Inspires

The Pirates and the Cubs figured in another oddity. Pittsburgh was ahead, 1-0, in the fourth inning at Wrigley Field July 30. Righthander Glen Hobbie walked from the mound to the Cub dugout while his team was at bat and learned his wife had given birth to a son, their first child. The news inspired Hobbie and he bore down the rest of the way and the Cubs ended an eight-game losing streak with a 6-1 count over the league leaders.

Pirate outfielder Roberto Clementine's middle name, according to the official Pirate roster, is Walker.

Lester Biederman, Pittsburgh baseball writer, greeted the Puerto Rican by his full name early this spring.

"My middle name no Walker," Clemente protested. "It Estrella." "What does that mean," Biederman asked.

"How I know," Clemente said. "What Biederman mean?"

Managerial changes provided oddities. Lou Boudreau, broadcaster of Chicago Cub games, swamped jobs with Cub Manager Charley Grimm.

Cleveland Manager Joe Gordon and Detroit pilot Jimmie Dykes traded portfolios. The teams also traded coaches. Luke Appling joined Dykes in Cleveland Jo Jo White followed Gordon to Detroit.

Perfect Record

Eddie Sawyer quit as Phils manager after the opening game and coach Andy Cohen took over temporarily and won the next day. Gene Mauch was named manager but Cohen returned to his coaching status with the satisfaction of being the only undefeated manager in the majors.

Pirate righthander Bob Friend was standing in front of a cage at a St. Louis zoo when a tiger thrust his paws through the bars and ripped the pitcher's coat. Friend pulled away his pitching arm in time.

"You're making a joke of this game," a Pirate outfielder remonstrated when umpire Frank Dascoli ejected him from a game at Candlestick Park because of an argument over a called strike.

"Look at that scoreboard and see who's making a joke of the game," Dascoli.

At that moment, the Giants were ahead, 12-0, and the Pirates had only three hits and had been charged with seven errors.

Massillon led the ratings with a total of 222 points, the Tigers' best showing to date. Massillon, crippled with injuries, defeated Steubenville, 26-6, to keep its record a perfect 5-0.

Alliance, which lost a heart-breaker to Massillon last week, came back with a vengeance to beat Akron St. Vincent, 52 - 6. Springfield South defeated Middletown, 26-6; Marion Harding trounced Cleveland St. Edward, 55-16; Parma defeated Cleveland Heights, 42-20; Troy rode roughshod over Xenia, 52-8; an Canton McKinley defeated Newark, 52-8.

The second ten, in order, was composed of Cincinnati Purcell, Middletown, Niles, Cincinnati Elder, Martins Ferry, Kettering Fairmont, Marietta and Toledo Central, Akron South and Salem.
