SORT OF SAD also is the announced retirement forever from baseball of Andy Cohen, one-time Eau Claire manager. He is now going into the suds business in his home town of El Paso—and his friends, of course, hope bad hops do not shorten his new career.

John Orsino, Rox catcher of 1958, who bids fair to becoming a big leaguer, is the owner of a record which we will avoid mentioning at every future opportunity. John had 37 passed balls last summer, according to final official Northern league statistics. It is a new record, bettering a mark set in 1936 by Gus Hixon of Fargo-Moorhead. Good old Gus got charged with 34.

Ernie Christoff, an all-star pitcher with Eau Claire in the Northern league last season, who descended all the way from A to join the Braves, is now in that new Florida "instructional" league. There he has won six and lost none. When he was here last summer I didn't think he needed any more instruction. He was awful tough.
