

Ingram 1st Category Pick— News Media New E.P. Sports Hall Of Fame Category

El Paso Athletic Hall of Fame this year has added a new category. It will recognize members of the news media.

First recipient is Bob Ingram, El Paso Herald-Post sports editor who with John Phelan, Chris P. Fox and Chuck Whitlock originated the El Paso Athletic Hall of Fame in 1955.

ANDY COHEN was chosen the first El Paso living athlete to be inducted in the Hall of Fame here.

Ingram will be one of the honorees at the 18th annual El Paso Athletic Hall of Fame awards dinner to be held at 7:30 p.m., tomorrow at El Paso Country Club.

Frank Porth, a former president of the El Paso Athletic Hall of Fame Foundation, will make the presentation.

basketball and baseball coach who carried away many basketball honors at Bowie and at UTEP.

THE DINNER WILL start at 7:30.

Bill Green will be master of ceremonies. Connie Alexander, radio and TV sports broadcaster who lives in Albuquerque, will be the speaker. Alexander broadcast the last Sun Bowl football game on a nationwide CBS hookup and was one of the TV announcers in this year's NCAA basketball regional tournament at Tucson.

Ben Collins is the out-going president of the El Paso Athletic Hall of Fame Foundation.

THREE inductions will be held for athletes who've made outstanding contributions to El Paso in sports.

They are Mrs. Joe (Mary) Hoover in tennis and golf, principally, but who has competed with distinction in other sports; Fred Wendt, a national record-setting half-back at U.T. El Paso who now lives in Odessa, and Nolan Richardson, Bowie High School

TWO MEN IN the coaches and administrators category who will be cited at the dinner are Saul Kleinfeld, El Paso's most renowned sports promotional man, and Charles (Red) Harris, who had a successful series of football teams at Austin High School.

A posthumous award will be given in memory of Raymond B. Ward, former Brown University football star and an El Paso building contractor who was the patriarch of a sports-minded family here.

Three athletes of the year, chosen for their performances in 1973, will be presented trophies. They are Gus Bailey and Beto Bautista, graduating members of the UTEP basketball team, and Hans Hoglund, NCAA shot put champion and one of the Miners' top performers on the current track and field team.

Tickets are available from the Hall of Fame committee members and may also be purchased at the door tomorrow.
