

Cohen's Worry: No. 1 Wildcats

Fans continue to turn away in record droves for University of Texas at El Paso baseball games but Andy Cohen refuses to concern himself with that problem. "Arizona's baseball team is a far bigger obstacle," the UTEP mentor emphasized.

The Miners host Western Athletic Conference foe Arizona at noon tomorrow in Dudley Field and again at 10 a.m. Saturday in a twinbill. The U of A series at Dudley marks the first time since April 11 the Orange have played at home.

"UTEP concerns me," Arizona coach Jerry Kindall commented. "They've proved that they can beat the top teams having already defeated us and Arizona State this year. We cannot afford a letdown."

The Wildcats, ranked No. 1 nationally, are in a dogfight for the WAC Southern Division diamond title with three-time defending champion Arizona State. The Cats are 50-4 overall and 10-2 in WAC play while ASU is second at 9-3. The Miners are 24-21 in overall play and 2-10 in conference action. UTEP needs two wins in their last half dozen games (three next week against New Mexico) to register the most wins ever posted by a Cohen ballclub.

THREE UNDEFEATED hurlers will draw Kindall's starting nod in the series, Dave Brueker (13-0) on Friday, Mark Schimpf (11-0) and Ron Bell (3-0) on Saturday.

Cohen will counter with Roy Stringer (6-3) tomorrow and the duo of Dan Modlinski (3-5) and Jeff Hogan (3-4) on Saturday.

The Miners continue to rip opposing pitching, having posted at a .305 average but 84 errors afield have led to many downfalls. Third baseman Glenn Villareal continues to pace the Orange attack with a .394 average.

While Arizona drew 11,620 fans for its six home games with UTEP and UNM the Miners are averaging a dismal 75 per opening, a figure Cohen would like to improve with a couple of wins this weekend.
