The Same Thing

NEW TERM for occupants of skilled positions on football teams—reflex players. Andy Cohen said it at the Downtown Touchdown Club meeting last Monday—"touchdownism." What they're doing now: Rocky Bridges, former El Paso Sun Kings manager (1969), is at his home in Long Beach, Calif., savoring his selection as manager of the year in the Pacific Coast League. He had his Phoenix club in the running for the Eastern Division title up until the last few days. It's reported Rocky won't be back with Phoenix in 1975, however. Bottom 10 nominations or teams that have not tied or won in four or more games this season: Northern Illinois, Drake, Citadel, Florida State, Indiana, Oregon State, South Carolina, Texas-Arlington, Virginia Tech, Wake Forest. Headline in Dallas Times Herald after Kansas beat Texas Aggies: "Jayhawks Kick Ranking Out of Aggies." There will still be Aggiemania at College Station today if the Aggies beat Texas Tech. Would Bill White like to have his school in the Sun Bowl? Oakland players didn't get diamond rings for their play in the World Series last year. They were unhappy about it. And did you hear about the football player who waved his hand in front of his face while catching a punt, saying to the officials: "I didn't call for a fair catch. I was waving to my girl friend in the stands."

New UTEP Defense

SOME EDUCATORS are trying to eliminate "man" from the language when the word is used as a general term like "man-made." They would substitute "person" or "human being." So, Don Haskins will continue to play a person-to-person or human being-to-human being defense on his UTEP basketball team. Jim Spencer, three-year first baseman for El Paso Sun Kings, is on the trading block of the Texas Rangers. Billy Martin, like the managers of California Angels, platooned Spencer against right handed pitchers. CBS will have a complete new crew of National Basketball Assn., announcers for the coming season. Pat Summerall, Elgin Baylor and Hod Rod Hundley will not be back. Chick Hearn being mentioned as one member of the new term. Chickie Baby is the best basketball announcer in the country. The network might have trouble getting him away from the Los Angeles Lakers. Wonder what gimmick Al Conover, the Rice football coach, is going to try next just before his team leaves the dressing room to go out on the field and play an opponent. He tossed a chair through the window at Arkansas. He ripped off the leg of a table and beat a hole in the blackboard before one game and he had the trainer set off firecrackers in the shower stalls just before a game this year. Such gimmicks don't seem to be Rice University's lifestyle.

Yankees Say It^N

NEW YORK YANKEE slogan for next season: "Yes, We Will." The Yankees who made a valiant and close effort this year had a "Yes, We Can" slogan. It doesn't seem like Darnell Royal of Texas is he hepping the press
