

Split With Lobos—

Pitching For Miners Still Tops

Texas Miners baseball team today ended its competition for the season with the New Mexico Lobos with a one-game advantage. The Miners returned home from splitting a twinbill with the Lobos yesterday in Albuquerque. It gives them a 3-2-1 mark against New Mexico.

Andy Cohen highly complimented his hurling as his team faced Denver today at Dudley Field and will meet the Pioneers there again tomorrow.

TWO PITCHERS he started against New Mexico yesterday finished without relief. Jesse Lujan went all the way in beating the Lobos 4-1 in the first game. He allowed only three hits and had excellent control. He didn't walk a batter. The only run New Mexico made was disputed. Danny Blanco, Bobby Aguirre and Larry McFarlin hit good for the Miners. Ralph Sallee, the losing hurler, fanned 12 batters but gave up 11 hits.

Ken McAnally was the Miner pitcher in the second game. He faced Cliff Fowler who did just a little better job for New Mexico. The Miners were able to get only two hits.
