Beefed Up Miners Eye NM Aggie Baseballers

With wins No. 12 and 13 tucked away, the Texas Miners have a day in which to get ready for the weekend baseball series with nearby New Mexico State.

The two teams get together in back to back twin bills tomorrow, at Las Cruces, and Saturday at Dudley Field.

Coach Andy Cohen's Miners swept a double feature from New Mexico Military Tuesday at Dudley Field, running their record to 13-6-1.

SOUTHPAY LYNN HUNT and righthander Jess Lujan, who labored against NMMI Tuesday, could be ready for the weekend series.

Hunt posted his fifth straight win, without defeat, in the opener while Lujan made it 4-0 by toiling the first five frames in the second seven inning affair.

While notching his fifth straight win, Hunt also spun his second shut out of the spring, giving NMMI only four hits and lowering his earned run average to a gaudy 1.18.

THE EL PASO NATIVE now has allowed only six earned runs in 45 2-3 innings of work. He has completed five of the six games in which he has started.

Although he is not a strike-out artist —he has fanned only 21 this spring — Hunt relies on good control and has issued only 10 free tickets.

Lujan lowered his ERA from 3.04 to 2.82 with his work in the second game Tuesday. The El Paso righty has worked in 28 2-3 frames, allowed nine earned runs, struck out 27 and allowed 11 bases on balls.

THE MINERS also beefed up their hitting marks with the sweep of the double feature Tuesday. Third baseman Danny Blanco shoved his average to .397; outfielder Larry McFarlin inched his average to .358 and catcher Charlie West brought his mark up to .312.

As a team, the Miners also padded the batting average, shoving it from .278 to .291. The Miners' bats rained out 26 hits during the two games with McFarlin getting two more home runs.

After a rather slow start, the Miners' fielding averages also have improved. In 675 total chances, the Miners have committed 34 errors for a .950 percentage. Fifteen of the miscues occurred during the first five games. In the opener, the Miners kicked the ball around seven times but the defense has improved as the season grows older.

No Police At Clay Bout

LAS VEGAS, Nev., April 6. — Cassius Clay has the approval of the Nevada State athletic commission to defend his heavyweight title at the Las Vegas Convention Center April 25 against Floyd Patterson, but the boxers might have to furnish their own police protection.

The commission voted 4-1 yesterday to allow what will be Clay's last fight before his scheduled induction into the Army to be held in this gambling oasis.

But Sheriff Ralph Lamb warned the promoters of the
