

Home Play Of Miners Will End

The Texas Miners put the wraps on their home baseball season at Dudley Field tomorrow and Saturday by meeting highly regarded Grand Canyon in a three game series.

Coach Andy Cohen's batsmen meet the Antelopes in a double feature Friday starting at 10 a.m. Saturday's single game, also at Dudley, is slated to begin at the same time.

THE MINERS padded their already best-record-in-the-school's history last week with a pair of wins over Artesia College. The sweep of the Artesia twin bill ran the Miners' record to an impressive 22-7-1, by far the best in the school's history. Last season's 17-12 record was the best until now.

Following the three-game Grand Canyon setto, the Miners take to the road for the final time for a five game series. The Miners stop first at Las Vegas May 5 for a single game with New Mexico Highlands before heading off to Denver the next day for a single game.

COHEN THEN takes his team to Air Force Academy May 8 for another single affair before closing the season at Southern Colorado State the following day with a double header.

Miner bats have rained base hits in recent weeks and six of Cohen's starters are hitting over .300 with third baseman Danny Blanco setting the pace with .413 followed by center fielder Larry McFarlin who has lifted his average to .409.

LEFTY LYNN HUNT and right sider Jesse Lujan will, no doubt, see action during the three-game series. Cohen's other starter is undecided at the moment.

Hunt has an 8-0 record while Lujan has a 6-0 mark, giving the one-two punch 14 of the team's 22 victories.
