Automatic Hank Goes Into High Gear in Braves Victory

Aaron Homers Over New Pirate Shift

By JOE GERGEN
UPI Sports Writer

Automatic Hank Aaron has rendered the standard shift obsolete.

The smooth-functioning Atlanta slugger shifted into high gear in his quest for the National League triple crown Sunday by defying the lopsided defense concocted by Pittsburgh manager Harry Walker and pulling the ball at, over and through the Pirates' huddled infielders.

Aaron, who led the league in homers last season with 44, blasted two round-trippers and two singles in four at bats, taking over the league lead in homers with 11 and runs batted in with 29, as the Braves battered the Pirates 7-2.

THE 32-YEAR-OLD outfielder, whose perfect day hiked his batting average to .333, got particular satisfaction, however, from foiling Walker's strategy of placing three infielders on the letf side.

"That shift doesn't help against home runs, does it," he grinned.

Philadelphia edged league-leading Cincinnati 2-1 in 18 innings, the longest game in the NL this year, Houston blanked San Francisco 2-0, St. Louis nipped New York 3-2 and Los Angeles and Chicago split a doubleheader with the Cubs winning the nightcap 8-2 after the Dodgers had taken the opener 6-1.

DON LOCK'S two-out single scored Richie Allen from second base and ended the marathon struggle in Philadelphia. Dick Hall, who pitched scoreless relief ball for six innings, got the win.

Mike Cuellar pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the ninth inning in shutting out the Giants for his third victory in five decisions. Bob Aspromonte hit a solo homer for the Astros.

Lou Brock homered for the Cards' first run and scored the deciding tally on a sixth-inning double play as Ray Washburn stopped the Mets on seven hits.

FERGUSON JENKINS pitched a three-hitter and the Cubs took advantage of errant Dodger fielding to score four tainted runs in the fourth and three in the fifth in winning the second game. Ron Santo had three hits, including his fourth homer. Willie Davis drove in three runs with a single on a homer, which climaxed a four-run seventh, in the opener.

Spurs Then and Now

THE DALLAS-FORT WORTH SPURS have made their first visit of the season to El Paso and in the words of their shortstop, Don Furnald, they are a better team than their record shows: 11-23 and 12 games from the top.

They gave the Sun Kings a tough series. The Kings were beaten by a 19-year-old pitcher, Dean Burk, Saturday night, 5-4. Burk threw about as hard as any pitcher who has faced El Paso this season. The Kings had to come back yesterday to win (7-3) to get a series split.

The Kings first encountered the Spurs on April 21 in the Spurs home park. The team that played the Kings then and the one Jo Jo White has just brought to El Paso bear little resemblance in the catching department, infield and outfield. There have been at least a dozen changes in the Spurs' personnel since the season started.

The past series with the Kings almost made other manpower changes necessary. Don Davis, the first baseman, fouled a ball off his foot in the first inning Saturday and had to retire. Furnald was hit in the head by a pitched ball in that game and was sent to the hospital for x-rays. Fred Rodriguez, playing shortstop yesterday, was clipped right on the point of the chin when a ball hit by a Sun King batter took a bad hop.

Little Bumping Act

JO JO WHITE WAS A CASUALTY in the Sunday game. He didn't like the call Scotty Harris made in ruling catcher John Felske out at home in the seventh inning. White engaged in some helmet-kicking and sulphuric language. The latter brought complaints from some of the first base bleacher fans.

Harris told White to get out. The D-F manager started to the dugout and then decided to have something else to say. He turned around abruptly. There was a collision. Harris, who had been following White, caught the impact of the manager on his chest protector. Harris is as big as Stan Landis, National League umpire. Maybe bigger. Anyway, he possibly had a little the best of it in the bumping.

"You looked at a typical old-school manager's way of putting up a beef," said Andy Cohen.

Jo Jo and Son Mike

IN HIS MORE PEACEFUL TIMES, Jo Jo is a delightful man to be around. As anyone with some 40 years in the game has had, he's had some interesting experiences. He's managed Roger Maris, Ryne Duren, Don Larsen, Roy Sievers and many others on their way up. He got a lot of his outfielding knowledge from one of the greatest of them all, Tris Speaker.

The Spurs may have the only father-son combination in baseball. Jo Jo's son, Mike, is playing centerfield for the Spurs.

He cut his teeth on a baseball. "He's been around baseball players practically all his life. I worked him out with my regular players when he was just a kid."

The kid developed into a fine big league prospect. He was signed by Jo Jo, who was a scout for the Cleveland Indians and taken to the Indians' spring training camp in 1958. Playing in an intrasquad game, Mike took the ball from a teammate, stepped on second for one out and pivoted for the throw to first when he was spiked in the knee.

"I came the closest I have ever come to fainting," said Jo Jo. "I was coaching one of the teams and was watching the play."

Mike's knee was cut badly. About all the ligaments in it were destroyed. He lost his speed with that bad knee and even though he had three seasons in the majors afterward he couldn't fly like he did before. He drags his leg although it's barely noticeable. I must say he showed plenty of speed yesterday when he ran 100 yards or so to make the catch of a fly ball that looked like it was certain to fall in.

Padres Blitz Way to Top

By GORDON SAKAMOTO
UPI Sports Writer

All of a sudden the San Diego Padres are on top of the heap in the Pacific Coast League's hectic Eastern Division.

Bob Skinner's Padres, dead last only a few weeks ago, have gone on a blitz that has seen them win 12 of their last 14 games to move four percentage point ahead of Oklahoma City.

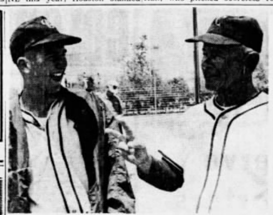
San Diego won its fifth straight Sunday, a 3-2 nod over Tulsa, to inch just ahead of the 89ers who split a twinbill with Indianapolis, winning the opener, 3-2, and dropping the nightcap, 1-0.

NEWLYWED Doug Rader belted a dramatic home run in the ninth inning to give Oklahoma City the first game victory over Indianapolis.

In other games, Seattle hung a protested 5-3 win on Denver, Phoenix scored a 4-3 win over Spokane, western division-leading Tacoma downed Vancouver, 8-4, and Portland and Hawaii split a day-night doubleheader in Honolulu, with Portland taking the opener, 12-8, and Hawaii winning the night game, 5-4.

SEATTLE BUILT up a five-run lead in the early stages of the game but had to stave off Bear threats in the last two innings. Chuck Cottier's two-run homer in the second was Seattle's big blow.

The game was protested on the grounds that Andy Kosco was not officially reported as a Denver pinchhitter in the eighth. However, umpire John Grimsley ruled Kosco had reported and although did not get to bat, he was charged with an appearance in the game.



TWO SUCCESSFUL — Coronado Thunderbird diamond coach Nemo Herrera holds up two fingers to demonstrate to southpaw sophomore pitcher Dickie Jones that he had won his second playoff game, knocked in two of three earned runs and helped Coronado win the District 1-AAAA baseball crown in only their second year of competition. (Herald-Post Staff Photo)

Dickie Goes For No. 3

The number two has a double meaning for Coronado sophomore hurler Dickie Jones but he is going for number three tonight in Abilene for the bi-district AAAA prep baseball title.

Jones batted in two of the three earned runs and gained his second playoff game victory in a 7-3 romp over the Burges Mustangs at Hugo Meyer Field.

THE MUSTANGS face Abilene Cooper, winners of 2-AAAA play with a 9-5 record in the eight team league. The Cooper nine will start with David Johnson, the area's best pitcher with a 7-1 record and 106 strikeouts. Johnson has given up only nine earned runs in 59 innings.

The number two has another significance. The Thunderbirds have only been competing for two years and the district championship is the first major sports victory for the shcool.

The key to Coronado's success was red headed Burges catcher Allen Patterson. Patterson displayed one of the worst performances of the season with three errors to account for three unearned Coronado runs and the lead.

Angels Have 9 Losses In 10 AL Games

By ALEX KAHN
UPI Sports Writer

ANAHEIM, Calif., May 22. — The California Angels were not hitting the panic button today as they looked back on a streak of nine losses in the last 10 games.

The ninth loss came Sunday when the Minnesota Twins climaxed a three-game series sweep with a 12-3 victory.

"We just have to forget that one," manager Bill Rigney said. "I've got the feeling we're going to be all right. I'm getting pains in my stomach and that's usually a sign that things are getting better."

AND RIGNEY was glad to forget the battery of extra base hits pounded out by the Twins. Of their 15 hits, 10 were for extra bases and four were homeruns.

"It looked like the Battle Of The Marne," said Rigney. "It felt like shells were going off all afternoon."

General manager Fred Haney, admitting he was disappointed with the protracted slump of the Angels, refused to lose his poise.

"We're not going to panic," he said. "I think we have the players to bounce back."

THE STATISTICS indicated the Angels were playing slipshod baseball. Sunday they committed four errors and raised their total for the past 10 games to 17 and for the season to 35.

The surprising Kansas City Athletics invade Anaheim stadium tonight for the first of a two-game series. Chuck Dobson, 1-1, opposes Jim McGlothin, 2-1, of Angels in the opener.

Champ Last Day 500 Qualifier

By KURT FREUDENTHAL
United Press International

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 22. — Five veterans of the Grand Prix road racing set will add an International flavor to the 51st annual 500-mile Memorial day auto race, but the strongest U.S. contingent of the postwar era will try to return the championship back home for the first time in three years.

Qualifications for the richest event in racing, with more than $700,000 in prize money at stake, ended on their usually hectic note late Sunday with the 33 starters checking in at a record speed of 164.173 miles per hour, nearly 4 miles faster than last year's high of 160.251.

DEFENDING "500" champion Graham Hill of London, became a last-day qualifier, and even more dramatic was the last-day comeback of Scotland's Jackie Stewart, whose original car was one of 10 "bumped" by faster machines Saturday and Sunday.

The 10 eliminations tied the record set in 1934.

Nobody came close to the record clip of pole-setter Mario Andretti, who averaged nearly 169 m.p.h. on the first day of the trials, and the only second-weekend qualifier who exceeded 165 m.p.h. was veteran Roger McCluskey of Tucson at 165.563

Face Dukes Tonight—

Kings Beat Sunday Jinx

The Sun Kings have beaten the Sunday afternoon jinx at Dudley Field, at last, and today head into a bob-tailed series with the Albuquerque Dodgers before playing the big team, the California Angels, in an exhibition game Wednesday night.

Jim Holbrook was slated to face the Dodgers tonight.

Paul Jaeckel marked up his second victory of the season over the Dallas-Fort Worth Spurs in yesterday's game, the Kings winning 7-3 to square the series.

JAECKEL SURVIVED a night-marish first inning in which he gave up two walks, hit a batter and had a single marked up against him, to beat the Spurs. Dallas-Fort Worth scored only two runs in the first despite Jaeckel's poor start. They got only one more run off Jaeckel and it was unearned. He didn't walk another batter. "I was glad to get through the first inning with only two runs against me," Jaeckel said. "My control was good after that inning and my slider was working well. I wanted to finish the game but I was well pleased with winning it."

Dave Turnbull was called in to pitch the final two innings.

THE KINGS got an unearned run in the first, scored another singleton in the fifth when Jarvis Tatum singled, stole second and came home on Jim Spencer's double and had a big three-run sixth inning. Gordon Avery had a triple, Vic LaRose doubled, Tatum singled and Jaeckel walked that inning. Archie Reynolds, the starting pitcher for the Spurs and the loser, retired at the end of the sixth and the Kings got their final run off scatter-armed Jon Robisch. Leo Rodriguez walked to force in Avery with the final El Paso runs.

JO JO WHITE of the Spurs was ejected in the seventh inning after protesting a decision at home plate. Bobby Trevino caught Mike White's short fly and threw a strike to home plate to get John Felske trying to score from third. The double play was El Paso's big play of the game. Gene Etter went back of the third base bag in the fourth to get LaRose's batted ball and throw out the El Paso shortstop in the top Spur play.
