Key Is Pitching . . . Play Lobos—

What! Already?? Miners' Baseball Opener Next Week

By JIM SLEEPER

The Texas Miners baseball team's hopes will rely on pitching, according to coach Andy Cohen who is preparing the team for their opener next Friday against the New Mexico Lobos here.

"We need a little pitching," Cohen said. "We have the same infield and the catching is not too bad, but the pitching will tell the story."

"OUR TWO TOP pitchers from last year are coming around good," the Miners coach said. "We hope both (Lynn) Hunt and (Jesse) Lujan will carry on from last year." Hunt had an 8-3 record and 1.73 ERA while Lujan finished with an 8-1 record and 4.12 ERA during last year's 25-12-1 season.

Two El Paso prepsters are among the new crop of pitchers that Cohen likes. Ernie Carreon from Bel Air and southpaw Bill Onick from Irvin "have looked fairly impressive," Coach Cohen said. Another lefthander who shows promise is Terry Witt, an El Paso junior while Bill Dieselhorst of Fairfax, Va.; Bill Brandt of El Paso and Don Wilson from New Jersey round out the mound staff.

SENIOR CHARLEY West, the All-American gridder, is coming around in his hitting, Coach Cohen said. "He hit one of the longest balls ever hit out of Hugo Meyer Field during practice yesterday." West carried a .366 batting average last year.

There is currently a battle for the first base position between last year's starter, sophomore Johnny Miller, and lefty Kevin Berger, a freshman from Eastwood high.

"WE HAVE TWO fine looking twin brothers from Virginia, too," Coach Cohen said. Bill and Sam McClellan play the infield and outfield respectively.

"The bad weather might have hurt us," Coach Cohen added. "We missed three or four days in a row but are catching up now." The Miners have 28 players currently on their roster.
