

through the 1970 season.

Arizona coach Frank Sancet will again call on Leon Hooten in today's game to act as stopper and pick up the vital first win. Hooten pitched his best game of the season against New Mexico a week ago but lost 1-0 and was overshadowed by the Lobo's Jim Kremmel and his no-hitter.

Gregg Greggerson, a 6-6 freshman who beat the Cats earlier in the season at El Paso, has drawn the starting assignment from his colorful coach, Andy Cohen.

Arizona's starting line-up should look about the same, with J. Ray Rokey behind the plate, Rod O'Brien at first, Mark Driscoll at second, Steve Ballard or Dave Jacome at shortstop and Jim Williams at third.
