Weird Play . . . Sooners Win 5-3 in 10--

TW Player Balked
Home . . . Called Out
...Misses First

Texas Western's Miners faced the University of Oklahoma in baseball today with a 7-4 record instead of an 8-3 mark because of one of those once in a million plays that sent the Sooners to their first win in three starts in a 5-3 verdict in 10 innings in yesterday's opener of the four-game series. The two teams played two today and one tomorrow at 2 p.m. at Dudley Field.

Rightfielder Phil Ottone opened the Miner second inning with a double and ended up on third base when Jim Seabolt mis-played his slam. The umpire then awarded Ottone home plate when the pitcher balked on his start to the plate on the next pitch.

After a lengthy argument between Oklahoma coach Jack Baer and the officials, Sooner hurler Joe Cox took the mound, fired the ball to first base and Ottone was called out at first for missing the bag when he was rounding the bases.

THEN CAME THE Texas Western argument that the appeal could not be made after the balk ruling. Coach Andy Cohen claimed the play was dead with the balk ruling. The officials explained the ball was not dead because the pitcher had not actually delivered it to the plate.

It appeared the run would not matter as Texas Western scored twice in the fourth inning when leftfielder Charlie West led off with a single, was doubled to third base by Larry McFarlin's first of two doubles and scored on Danny Blanco's sacrifice. McFarlin then tallied on Ottone's single.

The Sooners, who left six men stranded in the first five innings, finally got to Miner hurler Tom Jennings in the seventh when Tom Maxwell reached first on an error, took second on Seabolt's single and scored when Joe Don Wooly singled.

THE TYING RUN came in the ninth when Mike Smith singled, took second on a fielder's choice, third on catcher George Rid-play's single and scored on a fielder's choice.

Three walks and three hits in the 10th spelled the win for the visitors as TWC could do no better than get one run across in the bottom of the frame on McFarlin's double and Blanco's single for his second RBI of the day.

"In 30 years of baseball I have never seen a play like that one in the second inning," recalled TWC coach Andy Cohen after the game. "And I don't think the officials have either."

IT MARKED THE second loss in extra innings for the Miners this season. TWC has won one game that went past the regular nine frames.

"I thought Jennings did a fine job on the mound. He gave up some hits, but got himself out of trouble most of the time," added Cohen. "We should have won that game 4-1, but that's the way things go."

Cohen reported he was writing for a ruling to find out about the call since the play is unusual.
