

Pioneers vs. Pittsfield at Dunn

Paul Campbell (12-6) to Pitch Playoff Opener Tonight

Elmira Has Won 5 Governor's Cups

Pioneers' Playoff History Loaded with Glory

Bring on Pittsfield's Eastern League Champion Red Sox.

Elmira's Pioneers are ready for them.

The Pioneers punched five Waterbury pitchers for 12 hits and a run in a 6-1 victory at Dunn Field Monday evening in the final regular season game of the season.

Tonight the Red Sox come to town to open a best of three series with the third place finishing Pioneers. Paul Campbell (12-6) will go for Cal Ripken's crew.

Campbell, the winning pitcher on the staff-percentage wise—will be putting a 50 season mark against the Sox on the line in the only Elmira home game of the series.

Campbell, who put in a stint in the bullpen in addition to his pitching chores in Pioneer leaver, has given the Sox a single run in his five wins, while the Elmiraans have provided him with 11 runs in the five games, not even close to the average game yield this last week.

The struggling Pioneers are ready. Elmira has won 11 of the last 12 games, with streaks of six and five wins.

Paul Rizzo and Jim Campbell have contributed mightily to the present surge, but Monday it was Al Campbell and John Mason who led the charge.

Elmira posted three runs across its bottom of the eighth before the rains came and had scored six runs in the sixth, sixth and seventh innings, but the thirdinning slump opened.

In the eighth, Elmira greets the Sox's fifth pitcher, Tom Kelley with a walk by Del Draddy, a sacrifice bunt from Ron Cayli and another walk by John Burrows.

Mason straked his second straight single for the first run and Javer Andino, who had another three for five performance at the plate, singled to open.

Burrows, wisely held at third by Ripken on Anthony's single, came in to score on Ted Kelley's single to center with Mason on his tail. Mason made a great catch, but Ripken decided not to field Johnson's scrappy throw in the plate.

After spotting the Sox a 1-0 lead in the fourth inning, the Pioneers tied it in the fifth by hitting back to back homers, the first by Fred Rizzo and the second by Fred Rizzo.

Elmira went ahead to stay in the lead when Campbell started things by bouncin' a single and was safe when Rizzo hit a three run homer in the sixth. The play was scored as a 3-0 and an error by Rizzo.

He went to second on the play and scored on Rizzo's single to left when Pete Sarraf hit heartily three toward home.

The ball rolled the last time to the plate. Rizzo hit a home run. The other Pioneer runs came in the seventh on consecutive singles by Burrows, Mason and Andino.

Elmira's 12-6 victory over the Sox was the 11th in a row and the 11th in a row.

Elmira's mini-tours are faced with a rugged assignment this week—maintaining Elmira's glorious record in Eastern League Baseball Season playoffs.

The Pioneers won the first Shaugnessy in 1967, the last in 1962 and tonight hope to pick up where they left off in 1962.

In between the Pioneers engaged in six other Shaugnessys and won three of them, making it a total of five championships in eight times—a record no other Eastern League team can boast.

Matter of fact, two teams in this season's Shaugnessy—Pittsfield and Reading—never have won the Governor's Cup. Binghamton has won four times in nine years.

Tonight's opening round pairings pit Elmira against Pittsfield at Dunn and Binghamton at Reading. The winners of the best-of-three series then clash in a best-of-five final. Cal Ripken's 1968 Pioneers can salvage a somewhat frustrating, hitting-weak, pitching-strong season by winning the playoffs—at the same time possibly saving Elmira baseball stockholders from a money losing season.

The job won't be easy—unless the boys with the bats use them as Fred Rizzo, Jim Campbell and Javer Andino have done recently. Pioneers pitchers have been great this season.

Then, too, it's been frustrating because of the callup of the club's stars—with no suitable lasting replacements.

If Elmira had Chet Trull, Terry Crowley and Gerry Heron, among others, for the season the Pioneers might be finishing first instead of third. But that's water over the dam and no matter how many complaints are voiced, no one can do a thing about it.

Let's hope what the Pioneers have left can do the job.

ELMIRA'S PLAYOFF history has been paved with glory—both team and individual.

Back in 1907 Bruno Betz's Pioneers, featuring the daring pitching staff of Lew Krause, Jack Kimball, Bill Givray (who left with an injured arm after a 1-0 start), John Hvidos and Bob Barr backed the hitting of Jake Daniel, Paddy Rogers, George Fallon, Art Parks and Ray White for a walk through Hamilton and Binghamton.

The next season Cydo Salsbery was at the helm and the first-place Pioneers were near elimination in the Binghamton series when Les Hura belted a two-run, 10th inning homer at Binghamton. That clinched the pennant-winning Triple A Elmira west on, behind Krause, Kimball and Hvidos again to sweep the final from Hamilton.

Elmira was in the playoffs again in 1939 but even the best of Xavier Rosengien, George Fallon, Eddie Hope, George Staller, Bill McWilliams and Paul Paynick couldn't overcome Scranton's Moser.

NO ONE EVER will forget the 1941 Shaugnessy. It pitched what the late Bill Pickett and Tom Dula preserved the 1-0 win in the last of the 1940s.

The Pioneers went on to win the 1941 Shaugnessy. It pitched what the late Bill Pickett and Tom Dula preserved the 1-0 win in the last of the 1940s.

Why a fish story? Because in the opening game of the semi-final at Wilkes-Barre that season Manager Ray Brubaker started little-known Clarence Pickard against W. B. Connelley of the Yankees.

Ember had no-bill Elmira through nine but Pickett had slammed the Yankees' bats, too. It was 0-0 going into the 10th. Embree got the first Pioneer then Joe Pile slammed one over the right center field wall at Artillery Park and Pickett, Sal Maglie and Tom Dula preserved the 1-0 win in the last of the 1940s.

The Pioneers went on to win the 1941 Shaugnessy. It pitched what the late Bill Pickett and Tom Dula preserved the 1-0 win in the last of the 1940s.

WARTIME 1943 gave another thrill—a Sunday afternoon, 17-inning struggle against Scranton that packed well over 4,000 into Dunn Field. Pioneers of what present day promoters claim about their free nights at Dunn Field attracting as many (one even said he had more in) three never has been a Dunn Field crowd to match Elmira's won that one as Elmira catcher Art Gunning set a record record of 22.

Sam Zoloth, Alex Mustakis, Don Smith, Carp Wood, Ed Busch, Willie Nowak, Les Hopewell and Les Moss and the Pioneers through Wilkes-Barre in the series, then Scranton in the final—which, ended, incidentally, Sept. 27.

The Pioneers of 1943 and 1954 gained the playoffs but never made the championship although Fall's 1951 record averaged more than 4,000 per game for the four semi-final and final games played at Dunn Field.

The 1950s the Pioneers attracted in 1961 in the loop's stadium playoffs.

Elmira's 1962 Elmiraans, featuring a stellar pitching staff of Dave Vineyard, Pat Gillick, Dave McNally, John Miller and Birm Sarraf, whipped Frank Lucchesi's Williamsport "ways in the championship series.

But, oh, how had changed from 1951 to 1962. Crowds were poor and when Elmira returned from its series-winning trip to Williamsport, only a handful of fans were on hand for greeting.

The playoffs, it appeared, had run their course. No one cared anymore.

That was six years ago. Tommy Richardson has re-stated the Shaugnessy—now it's again up to fans to determine whether they're wowed.

Pro Charts Minnesota Vikings

PROSPECT—This is the darkest time in the history of the Minnesota Vikings.

Football League. "It all depends on our quarterback and receiving." Says coach Bud Grant, a tactician type.

The Vikings have the strong backs dotted throughout the line-up that can match all other teams physically. The little push that makes a difference.

come from the two or three line-backers who are the best in the league. A quarterback, a punter, a kicker, a place-kicker, a line-backer, a punter, a kicker, a place-kicker.

Prediction—Fourth in Central Division.

PASSING—Comes down to whether Gary Cuzco is "another Unit" as first envisioned at Baltimore. He's in better spot than last year in New Orleans, where he had to scramble for his life. Gary's smart enough to get out of the physical line-up that can match all other teams physically.

RECEIVING—Has to be better if Gene Washington's training camp showing is for real. The big Michigan State has all tools to be another Homer Jones, except exceptional line-backer and tight end. A steady pro to flankers and led top John Beasley take over at tight end, supported by Billy Martin. Rating—B.

LINE—A stable unit that's in its third year of working together and strengthened, if anything, by prospect of top draft line backer breaking into the back corps of Grady Alderman (only original Viking left) and Doug Davis. Mill Sunde, Larry Brown are rugged-good backs. Mick Tingelhoff is merely best center in league. Rating—B.

DEFENSE

LINE—Togetherness is the key here, too. Alan Page is tackle should start developing into an all-leader. Gary Larsen or Paul Dickson get the job done alongside him. At the ends, Carl Eller has the great physical potential, and Jim Marshall has the experience. Sometimes they don't rush the passer as they should. But they're capable of it. Rating—B.

LINEBACKER—Last year's trio of Lonnie Warwick to middle, Roy Winston and John Kirby at corners is intact. There's challenge, however, from eager beaver of rookie-Bruce Ack, Mike McGill. And for versatility, strapping safety Dale Hackbart is working as a corner backer, too. Improvement in performance will have to come from the kids. Rating—B.

SECONDARY—Major change finds Paul Krause at free safety. He was an all-pro for Redskins. Underrated player? Karl Kasulke holds down strong side. The corners are the same, Russell Macchione and Ed Sharckman, and Vikings get burned by speed quarterbacks. But Grant considers secondary most improved because he's started to work in kids like Charley West, Mike Freeman, Bobby Bryant. Rating—B.

KICKING—Traded away veteran punter Bobby Walden because they're confident that Fred Cox, dependable place-kicker, can boot spirals, too. Rating—B.

Eagles Hold Buck Pats

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles held a practice session today that appeared a commanding lead on Rock Elmira's 46-yard field goal at the end of the fourth period and then wilted on a 25-30 victory over the Patriots Monday in a pro football exhibition.

The Eagles' triumph before a crowd of 11,464 at Harvard Stadium was the National Football League's 10th triumph in 21 pre-season meetings with American League clubs. There are two games left in the interleague rivalry dominated heavily by the NFL just a year ago.

Sens Drop Chisox, Win 1st Twin Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Senators won their first doubleheader of the season of their 17th attempt on Labor Day, defeating the Chicago White Sox, 1-0 and 1-0 behind the pitching of Jim Hannan and Barry Moore and the slugging of Brent Allen and Frank Howard.

The double victory left the Senators only two games back of the sixth-place White Sox.

Allen hit his fourth homer, doubled and singled and batted in three runs in the eighth after driving in the only run of the game. Howard had six hits for the day including a double and triple and a pair of RBIs.

Hubby Matches Wife with Ace

An Elmira man finally got even with his wife.

Glen Wright, 46, shot his first hole-in-one Monday at the Elmira Country Club, scoring an 18 in the 18-hole match.

The Wrights reside at 1901 Woodland Park in Elmira City. He was playing in a foursome with wife, Rose, and two sons, Jim and Paul.

The only trouble was that his wife had won the 1967 match at the Elmira Country Club, scoring an 18 in the 18-hole match.
